Japanese Minister To Be Here October 12

Tokugawa Voyages From Japan To Take Up Post At Ottawa

First Minister From Oriental Empire To Canada Expected To Pass Through Victoria October 12; Hopes To Make Stronger the Nations' Bonds of Friendship.

Tokio, Oct. 3 (Canadian Press)—Japan's first Minister to Canada, Iyemasa Tokugawa, sailed from here to-day to take up his duties in Ottawa. The liner Empress of France, aboard which he is voyaging, is expected to reach Victoria and Vancouver October 12.

The Minister said before sailing that he most cordial bonds had always united Canada and Japan. Now, however, affairs of the Pacific made it important there should be the closest co-operation between the two countries, not only in their own interests, but in the interests of the peace of the world.

The Governments were to be congratulated on their exchange of Ministers, he said.

He rejoiced in the presence in Japan of the Canadian Minister, Hon. Herbert Marler. The whole Japanese nation welcomed him. "I am convinced he will succeed in his position here," the Japanese Minister said.

Will speak frankly.

He would likewise do his utmost to succeed in Canada, he said. He would attempt to learn Canada's requirements and would tell Canadians frankly of Japan's ideas, thus contributing his small share to consolidating the understanding between the two nations.

M. Tokugawa said he anticipated happily his residence in Canada.

HIS DEATH ROBS GERMANY OF LEADING FIGURE

LATE DR. GUSTAV STRESEMANN

STRESEMANN FUNERAL PLANS ARE ARRANGED

Germany Mourns Loss of Foreign Minister Who Served as Chancellor

Berlin, Oct. 3.—Germany to-day mourns the loss of its greatest post-war statesman, Foreign Minister Gustav Stresemann.

Arrangements for the funeral are being made, but have not yet been announced. It is anticipated the ceremonies, attended by representatives of the state and many other leading men, and witnessed by many thousands, will give the last rites an outstanding place among similar events of recent years in this country.

Dr. Stresemann died at 3:25 a.m. to-day of a heart attack which followed a paralytic stroke at 10 o'clock last night. He was only fifty-one years old, but had been in ill-health for many months. Although the paralytic stroke had made useless his entire

TWO PEOPLE ARE INURED IN ACCIDENTS

Government Laborer Taken to Hospital; Little Girl Is Knocked Down

Truck Driver Has Miraculous Escape When Vehicle Turns Somersault

Robert Hallam, 412 Obed Avenue, an employee of the Provincial Government Public Works Department, was taken to the Jubilee Hospital this morning for treatment of minor injuries received when a Vancouver Island Coach Lines freight coach collided with a truck on which he was working. The accident took place on Gorge Road, near Innes Drive shortly before 10 o'clock.

The public works truck on which Mr. Hallam was working, was parked at the road side while bricks were being discharged from it. Mr. Hallam was "threw" to the ground when the other vehicle collided with the truck.

Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, who was passing, rendered first aid to the injured man who was later attended by Dr. Thomas Miller.

Narrow Escape

Ion Young, the driver of a truck owned by Ramsey's Machine Works, Quadra Street, narrowly escaped serious injury when his vehicle skidded in front of the Lake Hill School and turned completely over about 11 o'clock this morning. The truck landed on its four wheels after completing the somersault and was undamaged.

Freda Green, seven years of age, a pupil of the Sir James Douglas School, came in contact with a delivery wagon of the Worthington Bakery, while returning to her home on Moss Street at lunch hour to-day. The driver of the car said he tried to avoid the accident, but his car skidded on application of brakes. The little girl escaped with slight injuries. She was taken to a nearby home for medical attention. The accident took place before a number of children, returning from school.

BOY UNDER CAR SAVES LEGS FROM CRUSHING WHEELS

Because he had presence of mind to throw his legs in the air, just as the wheels of a street car over them at 8 o'clock this morning, an unidentified newsboy to-day still possesses all his limbs.

At the intersection of Government and View Streets the boy on his bicycle tried to beat the street car to the crossing. The street was wet, however, and just as he was in front of the car the bicycle went from under him. He slid under the fender and in front of the steel wheels. The boy was on his back and just as the front car wheel was about to pass over both legs he threw his head back on the road and shot his feet straight up in the air.

The car was stopped almost instantly, with the boys feet resting up against the steel sides of the body of the car. "It was the closest call I have ever seen a man have of losing two legs," said Col. B. de Molson, who saw the whole accident and rushed to the aid of the boy. "It is marvelous that not only was the boy not hurt, although half his body lay across the track in front of the oncoming wheel, but his bicycle was not even smashed."

The boy brushed himself off a bit and went off with his bicycle.

MILDER METHODS

Washington, Oct. 3.—Discontinuance of "hip slapping" of persons returning from abroad by customs agents was ordered to-day by the Treasury Department.

HON. ROBERT FORKE VISITS PRAIRIES

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Hon. Robert Forke will arrive in Winnipeg to-day on his way to Regina, where he will take up with the Union of Western Municipalities the question of municipal taxes on soldier settlement lands. He will address a Kiwanis meeting at Brandon before his return to Ottawa.

BISHOP MURRAY DIED TO-DAY AT ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, N.J., Oct. 3.—Bishop John Gardner Murray, head of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, died at 1:35 p.m. to-day from a stroke of apoplexy during a meeting of the House of Bishops here.

Expected to Land At Seattle

PREMIER KING HERE LATE IN OCTOBER

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—Premier King's visit to the British Columbia coast will be made later in October or early in November.

Word to this effect reached Hon. F. H. King, British Columbia's Cabinet representative, during his tour of the interior, he stated on his arrival in this city to-day.

The Premier's itinerary has not yet been completed and may not be until Dr. King reaches Ottawa. En route to the coast, however, he presumes the Prime Minister will spend a few days in his own constituency of Prince Albert, Sask.

WEATHERMAN PREDICTS UNSETTLED WEATHER FOLLOWING RECORD FIRE SEASON

Bringing to a close the warmest, driest and sunniest three months here in fifty-five years, Jupiter Pluvius visited the city this morning and relieved the fire rangers from their task of guarding the forests as well as bringing relief generally. Everyone has been hoping for a little rain and according to word from F. Napier Denison of the Gonzales Hill observatory, the rain to-day marked the close of summer weather.

Unsettled weather will continue for some time, Mr. Denison predicts. He says that although a considerable amount of rain is expected during the next few months, an exorbitant fall of the auto into a ditch, crash against a telegraph pole and escape with only severe bruises and shock was the experience of J. A. Goodwin here this forenoon.

Mr. Goodwin, who formerly was a Salvation Army officer, was driving north on Saltsbury Drive and apparently did not notice the approach of a C.P.R. freight train.

His car was caught by the front of the engine and carried along the track, then tossed aside.

TRAIN HITS AUTO AND DRIVER HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—To be carried in his automobile a distance of 80 feet after being struck by a C.P.R. locomotive, hurled with the wreckage of the auto into a ditch, crash against a telegraph pole and escape with only severe bruises and shock was the experience of J. A. Goodwin here this forenoon.

An area of low pressure off the Pacific Coast is giving rise to much wind, the weatherman stated, but so far it has not come in from the West Coast.

After an era of fine weather unimpeded in the history at the observatory, the rain freshened the air greatly.

Big Break In Stocks Is Seen At New York

New York, Oct. 3.—The stock market here to-day experienced one of the most drastic breaks in recent years when a heavy wave of selling swept through it in the last hour of trading and carried scores of issues down 85 to 870 a share. Several of the motor and specialties sank to new low levels for the year. U.S. Steel common dropped more than $10 a share and made only a feeble recovery.

Renewal of selling pressure was inspired largely by the tremendous increase of nearly $670,000,000 in Stock Exchange member loans last month. Dropping of call money rates from 7 1/2 to 8 per cent, with loans in the outside market offered below that figure, failed to stem the tide of selling, which embraced all groups of stocks, but was Atlantic City, N.J., Oct. 3.—Rev. Harry Dear of St. Paul's Cathedral, Los Angeles, was elected Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Missionary District of Honolulu by the House of Bishops to-day.

Seattle Expects To Greet Soviet Aviators To-day

Word Awaited From Four Moscow-New York Fliers Who Left Sitka, Alaska, at 6:42 This Morning For Puget Sound; Visibility Along Route Declared Poor.

Somewhere off the British Columbia Coast this afternoon, it all has gone well, the four Soviet aviators who left Moscow for New York are flying on their way to Seattle. Aboard their plane, "Land of the Soviets," they left Sitka, Alaska, at 6:42 this morning, hoping, though the visibility was poor, to reach Seattle, 700 miles away, in nine hours of flying. No report from a shore station or ship has come to indicate the monoplane was seen passing.

RESIDENTS TELL OF NEEDS OF PEACE DISTRICT

Leaders of B.C. Area Ask Atkinson to Carry Requests to Government at Victoria

(Special to The Times)
Pouce Coupe, B.C., Oct. 3.—Great development in the Peace River Block of British Columbia was envisioned at a large public gathering here last night at which the aspirations of the citizens were voiced and some of the needs of the district stated in the hearing of Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, so that in Victoria, at the conclusion of his present tour, he might lay the requests before the Provincial Government.

The banquet, in the Hart Hotel, was held under the auspices of the Pouce Coupe, Dawson Creek and Rolla chambers of commerce, the dining-room being filled to capacity by prominent residents. F. Fraser, former Government agent, presided. Mr. Atkinson was accompanied by Dr. Gaddes, colonization commissioner.

Rev. Mr. Henderson, the first speaker, suggested to Dr. Gaddes that care be taken to select the type of immigrants able to help themselves.

NO SUBSIDIES
W. Clayton, local solicitor, warned the Minister the duties of his department would be doubled in the next ten years because of the Peace River development. Transportation by both rail and road was of paramount importance, particularly rail connection.

1,000 Men In Prison Riot And Kill Guard

Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 3.—Warden Crawford of the Colorado penitentiary, after obtaining a direct wire from here through to the prison at Canyon City, announced J. G. Travin, a guard, had been killed, and two other guards, R. P. Brown and Robert Goodwin, had been wounded in a mutiny of prisoners in the dining-hall of the penitentiary at noon to-day.

1,000 IN RIOT
Canyon City, Colo., Oct. 3.—A guard was reported killed and two other guards were reported wounded and several prisoners were said to have been shot in a riot which broke out in the Colorado prison here to-day when about 1,000 convicts in some manner acquired 800 guns from the prison arsenal.

A correspondent of The Canyon City American, an Associated Press newspaper, said the body of a man identified as a guard was lying on the top of the prison wall, and that two guards had been taken from a prison tower critically wounded.

CHURCH LEADERS ARRESTED

Riga, Latvia, Oct. 3.—Dispatches from Astrakhan, U.S.S.R., state secret police arrested Archbishop Philip and Fathers Stefanovsky, Pokrovsky, Astomov and Mapledysha on accusations of counter-revolutionary preaching in Orthodox churches.

BEAR IN ZOO BITES OFF ARM OF BOY

Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, Oct. 3.—A bear in the zoo here yesterday bit off the arm of an eleven-year-old boy, who had attempted to feed the animal a slice of cake through the bars of the cage.

RECORDS ARE ESTABLISHED BY CANADIAN RAILWAY EARNINGS

Ottawa, Oct. 3.—Canadian railways earned larger gross revenues in July, 1929, than in any previous July, the total being $41,041,719 as against $41,418,444 in July, 1928. Net operating revenues amounted to $7,722,200, also made a new record for July, exceeding last year's by $505,567, according to figures published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Freight traffic was heavier than in 1928 by 7.6 per cent and passenger miles increased by 2.1 per cent, although the number of passengers carried decreased by 2.7 per cent.

For the January-July period the gross revenues amounted to $241,127,966 as against $231,346,103 in 1928. The net revenue was $49,007,822 and operating income was $11,224,201 as against $46,156,995 and $39,853,309 respectively, last year.

Strike Riot Cause Of Four Deaths

Marion, N.C., Oct. 3.—The number of deaths resulting from the textile mill strike riot at East Marion yesterday was brought to four to-day when Luther Bryson, twenty-two-year-old union member, died from bullet wounds in the chest and abdomen.

GERMAN DOLES INCREASED

Berlin, Oct. 3.—The unemployed insurance law, which for a time threatened to break up the Cabinet, to-day was passed in the Reichstag by a vote of 235 against 155. The law provides for certain increases in doles for the unemployed.

AUTOMOBILE CLUBS DISCUSS CHANGES

Seattle, Oct. 3.—Problems affecting motorists ranging from emergency road service to school boy patrols are being discussed by western motor clubs at a conference opened here to-day. The sessions, which will close to-morrow, attracted delegates from eleven western states, three Canadian provinces, the Hawaiian Islands, Missouri and the American Automobile Association.

Pacific Delegates Sail From Here For Japan

Vancouver, Oct. 3.—With high hopes of bettering the understanding between peoples of countries bordering on the Pacific Ocean, Canadian and British delegates to the Institute of Pacific Relations sailed from Vancouver at noon to-day for Japan aboard the liner Empress of Asia, which is to clear from Victoria at 7 this evening.

Sir John Aird, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is an outstanding figure in the Canadian delegation.

Lord Haldam, former Lord Chancellor of Britain, is a leading figure among the British delegates journeying to Kyoto from this coast. Other delegates are en route to Japan by different routes.

During their stay in Vancouver both the British and Canadian delegates met many persons who are interested in the Pacific relations congress and discussed with them questions which may be considered at the meetings.

No Diet Is Suitable Unless It Has Plenty Of Vegetables

By Dr. MORRIS FISHER

Almost everyone now realizes how important it is to have vegetables in a well-balanced diet. They provide many of the constituents that are necessary to health and to growth. They vary greatly in their food values, both as to calories, salt and vitamin contents.

Five stalks of asparagus yield twenty-five calories, a fair amount of protein and carbohydrates, some calcium and a fair amount of iron and phosphorus. Asparagus is a good source of vitamin B. For this reason asparagus is a common ingredient of reducing diets.

By comparison, three-fourths of a cup of canned peas will yield 100 calories, three times as much protein and about the same amount of carbohydrate as the asparagus, about the same mineral salts and a good deal of vitamin A as well as B.

The potato is a common constituent of most American diets. One-half cup of mashed potatoes yields 100 calories, the same protein and carbohydrate as the asparagus but about fifty times as much fat, lots of calcium and phosphorus but little iron, and vitamins A, B and C.

A whole cup of spinach yields forty calories, a good deal of protein, but very little carbohydrate and fat, great amounts of calcium, phosphorus and vitamins, and great amounts of vitamins A, B and C. Two fresh tomatoes yield 100 calories, twice as much protein as asparagus but about the same carbohydrate, and some calcium and iron, some vitamin A but a great deal of B and C.

The vegetables yield very little vitamin D. Lettuce has appreciable amounts of it. Asparagus, cabbage, lettuce, celery, spinach, squash and turnip are the low-calorie vegetables. A usual portion of these containing about one-fourth as many calories as the same portion of meat, corn or potatoes. The high protein vegetables are kidney beans, lentils and peas. The high carbohydrate vegetables are beets, corn, parsnips, potatoes, cauliflower and squash. Vegetable especially valuable for calcium are cauliflower, celery, lettuce, onions, peas, potatoes, spinach and turnips. The same vegetables are very well for phosphorus, but when it comes to iron, cabbage, lettuce, peas and spinach lead the field.

NOT THE SAME

To the Editor:—In connection with letters appearing in your paper, will you please state that the W. C. Fyfe mentioned is not the W. C. Fyfe, leader of the United Choir or of the Scotland Woolen Mills Co. An impression appears to have been created that I am the person.

CONSERVATIVE MEETING

To the Editor:—Mr. Leonard Tait, in a letter to The Times last night, states that he would be more to the point if he affirmed or denied that he was on Barnard's platform, supporting him against Dr. Tolmie in 1918-19.

Secondly, affirm or deny that he was on the platform of the Provincial Party in the 1924 election in opposition to the Conservative Party.

There is no argument, Mr. Tait may have a very good reason, but the public do not forget these things so quickly.

CRYSTAL GARDEN

To the Editor:—In reply to the two letters which appeared in The Times of October 1, I should like to make clear to the general public the rates as presently in effect at the Crystal Garden for swimming.

A charge of 75c is made for adults and 40c for children, these amounts including costumes and towels and the use of the dressing boxes, all furnished by the management.

For those who wish to take advantage of cheaper rates by purchasing a number of tickets at one time, special coupon books containing ten tickets are obtainable at $2.50 for adults and $2.50 for children, making the cost of each swim 35c for adults and 25c for children, swimmers providing their own costumes and towels. Swimmers paying 50c a year for a Crystal Garden identification card are entitled to the use of the pool at a rate of 35c, providing they bring their own costumes and towels.

This rate of 35c is also granted to members of various swimming clubs throughout the city. Season tickets good for one year from date of issue are obtainable at the following rates: Adults, $15 each; two or more in family, $12.50 (this rate also applies when adult's and child's tickets are bought by same family). Children under fifteen years of age and all school children, regardless of age, $10 each.

The question of reduced rates at the Crystal Garden pool has been under consideration for some weeks, and the basis of reduction has only recently been determined. Arrangements have already been made to make the reductions effective October 15, but, in view of the criticism which has been voiced regarding the prevailing rates, I have decided to announce sooner than intended, the revision in tariffs effective on the date above mentioned.

The ordinary 75c rate for adults will be reduced to 50c, and the 40c rate for children will be 25c, costumes and towels included.

Rates for season tickets, coupon books, identification cards and for local swimming clubs remain unchanged, and all children, regardless of age, will be admitted on Saturday mornings from 9 to 12 o'clock, as usual, at 15c each, not including costumes or towels. It is understood, of course, that no refunds or reductions will be made on account of any tickets sold prior to the effective date of the new rates.

It is hoped that the reduction in rates referred to above will result in a greatly increased attendance at the pool, and that those who have not hitherto availed themselves of the facilities offered will now become swimming enthusiasts. It is with the intention of creating a greater interest in swimming that these new reduced rates are being put into effect, and if the public response to such a gesture is sufficiently satisfactory, it is hoped that the continuance of the new scale of rates will be justified.

A. H. COWLESHAW JR.,
 Concessionaire and manager.

LOCAL STONE

To the Editor:—At the civic banquet held last Saturday evening, Premier Tolmie in his speech made a brief reference to the fact that the new cathedral was constructed of local made stone. In all the speeches and articles dealing with the cathedral building, this is the only mention that I can find in which our local made Victoria art stone has been mentioned. Yet we are at all times preaching "Support local industries!"

Few people are aware that the east stone called "Canmore" stone, was used for all of the interior stone work and for all the outside dressed stone work, such as the beautiful rose window in the west front, all the turrets, the main doorways, all the windows, and the other ornamental work and tracery; and it was modeled and cast on the site by a Victoria firm, employing Victoria workmen, from British Columbia materials bought in Victoria. The contract for this work was nearly a third of the entire cost of the building and the contract for it was secured in open competition with a nationally-known eastern firm and an American firm from Seattle.

Another point overlooked is the fact that if this stone had not been used, it would not have been possible to have built the present unit of the Cathedral, for by the use of this stone a sum of approximately $150,000 to $200,000 has been saved as a natural stone worked to the same detail would have cost this much more. The local made stone is also more durable, just as beautiful as any sand stone quarried, and is far stronger as proved by tests.

Victoria should be justly proud that a local firm could do this work, and I think that it is only right that some mention should be made of it in your columns, as both the stone and the firm which have really made the building of the cathedral possible at the present time, have been overlooked by all the speakers and the press in their references to the erection.

It is on using preaching "Support local industries" unless we also encourage them; especially when, as in this case, they make an outstanding achievement in the face of open competition against all comers.

A. B. NORRIS,
 185 Olive Street, Victoria.

CONSERVATIVE CONTROL

To the Editor:—I have made careful inquiry relating to your reference in The Times to "Conservative Control Fight."

The charge made at the last election against the Liberal Government was "vicious patronage," that Conservatives could not get a job unless they had the "licks," and that only Liberals could get in on the "spoils."

This was especially the cry of the present officers of the Conservative Association, and no doubt of it did much to put four members of their party into office.

Yet immediately the Conservatives got into power the very tactics that put the Liberals out they themselves tried to force upon the present Government, viz: "vicious patronage." They claimed that having elected the members they should rule and control the actions of the elected members, that instead of a Government carried on by the elected of the people a few members of the association should practically run the Government.

The Government through its members very rightly resented this, and so the so-called "fight." Now it is true that the Government in control—Liberal, Labor or Conservative—should work in harmony with the association that represents their party. The private members should "keep in close touch with the officers and members and by doing so would be able to give advice to the Government."

The officers and members of the association are elected by the electors and are supposed to represent the Conservatives of the city. The very fact of another association being formed against the Government shows the necessity of appointing men who will be able to work with the Government. These men are elected for one year. I would suggest that the change be made.

Let the new ticket have a chance. There will always be two sides to every question. We have had evidence of the one during the last twelve months. At the end of the next term those who elect will meet again and judge.

If by then the Government fail in giving justice to the Conservatives of the city during the year, which the present executive claim they have not done, perhaps the two will combine. If the change is made on Thursday night.

But I am convinced from my information that the Government are only anxious to work in harmony with the various executives and members of the association, but they cannot let them control. At the end of four years they will have to give a record of their work to the public, and upon this hinges the future of the Conservative Party.

How Palestine Has Been Policed

The recent Arab outbreaks in Palestine and the storm of denunciation from Jewish sources because of what is charged was inadequate protection accorded to the Jewish population in this mandated territory has led to an examination of just how order was maintained prior to the uprisings.

From this it appears that there has been no military establishment in Palestine west of the Jordan for several years. The maintenance of order has depended on a police force numbering about 1,700 officers and men. Of these about 300 are British and the rest Arabs and Jews.

Up to 1926, in addition to a small Palestine police force, there was a very efficient force of British gendarmes in the country, recruited in 1922 from the disbanded Royal Irish Constabulary and the "Black and Tans," and numbering about 700.

To them were added a force of Eastern Palestine gendarmes, composed of Arabs, Circassians and a few Jews. One British cavalry regiment also was stationed in Palestine.

In 1926 it was officially announced that in view of the change that had taken place in the country during the previous five years it had been decided to reorganize the military and police forces "on a more economical basis." The cavalry were withdrawn.

Both sections of the gendarmes were disbanded, but five officers and 200 men of the British section and two officers and 250 men of the Palestine section were added to the Palestine police force. The remainder of the Palestine gendarmes were made the nucleus of a military force called the Transjordan frontier force, to which was allocated the duty of keeping order in Transjordan; the balance was made up from surplus personnel of an Arab legion that had been employed in that region.

This frontier force was officered by British regular officers seconded for the purpose, and British staff sergeants and sergeants were also transferred from the regular army to complete the establishment. The area of operations of this force is far removed from the scene of the recent outbreaks.

After the disbanding of the gendarmes the British cavalry regiment was withdrawn, and the whole of the western side of the country had no more protection than should be afforded by this civil police force of 1,700 men. Normally they had been able to deal with the task of keeping the peace.

It was thought by the authorities that in maintaining a certain balance in the personnel between Arabs and Jews and with the help of the stiffening of the 200 old Royal Irish Constabulary, a certain moral influence would be secured. This expectation has not been entirely realized, and to the reduction of the total strength of the forces in Palestine and Transjordan in 1926 is attributed, in some degree, the difficulty of restoring order in the recent crisis.

Sour Stomachs Sweetened While You Eat

An occasional touch of indigestion is nothing serious, but if you are troubled frequently with sour stomach, heartburn, belching or excessive gas, it's a sure sign of too much acid; a condition that may lead to chronic disorders.

You needn't go on a diet or give up things you like to eat. A little Pape's Diapepsin will instantly neutralize the acids without impeding the assimilation of food, as most stomach remedies do. It will soothe, heal and strengthen the inflamed stomach lining, promote a normal, painless digestion and bring about a permanent correction of the acid conditions.

AN IDEAL FUEL

It has been our experience as coal dealers that most people are looking for an ideal fuel, and from the inquiries we receive from day to day, about this and that coal, that they have difficulty in finding anything that gives them entire heating satisfaction.

CANMORE BRIQUETTES

Are ideal because they are better than anthracite and long lasting, with absolute freedom from soot—ALWAYS THE SAME. The price, too, is low for quality, per ton.....$14.00

Cascara is Good for the System

What do you do when a sluggish system tells you the bowels need a little help?

The best thing yet discovered for the purpose is still the little candy Cascarets! Take one whenever the liver and bowels are not functioning as they should.

Cascarets are pleasing to the palate, and pleasant in their action. You eat them just like candy. They work while you sleep. Gentle, but thorough. Cascarets don't stir up the stomach or upset the system. But they cleanse the entire thirty feet of bowels in one comfortable, thorough action that leaves the system clean and sweet; leaves you with an untainted breath, uncoated tongue, and clear head.

Cascarets are made of cascara—long regarded one of the most beneficial laxatives known to medical science. They are sweetened with pure cane sugar and flavored with real licorice. Children love them. So do most grown-ups! Why take anything harsh when constipation threatens? Whenever a dull headache, lassitude, or sick stomach with loss of appetite warns you of poor elimination, a Cascaret or two is the most harmless form of help you could give a lagging system.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how fine you'll feel in the morning—and for days after.

ARREST THREAT IS FEATURE OF NEGOTIATIONS

Rev. H. H. Clark Tells Seattle Court "Ma" Kennedy Mentioned Jail For Him

Seattle, Oct. 3.—Rev. H. H. Clark testified today that Mrs. Minnie E. (Ma) Kennedy threatened to have him arrested for blackmail shortly before he started his $50,000 breach of promise suit against her.

The former Seattle minister added that he did not know the meaning of blackmail before he heard it from the lips of Mrs. Kennedy, mother of Alvin Karpis, mother of Alvin Karpis, mother of Alvin Karpis.

The conversation took place, he said, on cross-examination, after Mrs. Kennedy had returned from a trip to California.

Clark testified that Mrs. Kennedy had left him "dumbfounded" in Seattle and "morally unfit" to continue his work by failing to keep a promise to marry him. At his repeated requests, he said, she came back "to talk things over."

During the conversation after her return he revealed to her that he had requested a loan of $200 from Mrs. Karpis with a promise to "take out of the picture."

"You say Mrs. Kennedy frightened you by threatening to arrest you for blackmail?" John B. Robinson, attorney for Mrs. Kennedy, asked in continuing the cross-examination about their conversation.

"Yes, I did not know what it meant. I went to the public library and looked it up," he said.

"If you were so frightened, how did you dare file this complaint?" Robinson demanded.

"I went to a competent attorney and he said it was my legal right," said Clark.

Clark, who had said he knew Mrs. Kennedy as "Ma" Karpis, admitted he knew it was not her right name, but added he did not know she was Mrs. Kennedy.

"You were willing to marry a woman without knowing who she was?" Robinson asked.

"She assured me it was all right," Clark explained. "She asked me to trust her. I'm not the kind of man that asks impertinent questions of people."

"Do you think it was impertinent to ask the woman you were going to marry what her name was?"

"She gave me a frank explanation," said Clark. "She told me she was using her mother's maiden name; that she had a right to."

STRESEMANN FUNERAL PLANS ARE ARRANGED

right side, his physicians hoped he would rally. The heart attack came suddenly before dawn, however, and caused his death. Frau Stresemann and their two sons were at his bedside.

WEAKENED BY DEBATE

His physicians believe the strain of bitter debate in the Reichstag yesterday had so weakened his system that it brought on the paralytic stroke and the fatal heart attack. His death came, too, at a very awkward moment in the republic's affairs, when ratification of the Young Reparations Plan seemed certain to meet considerable opposition.

It remained to be seen whether the loss of Dr. Stresemann, leader of the attack for ratification will alter the status of the reparations arrangements worked out so arduously at Paris and The Hague.

LOST WEIGHT

Dr. Stresemann's efforts at The Hague conference on reparations and at Geneva during the League of Nations Assembly on his health, and the correspondents were shocked last Friday at a press conference to see him but a shadow of his former self.

He was thin, with his sunken cheeks, and his voice became so feeble at times he was able to speak only with great effort.

HIS RECORD

Dr. Stresemann rose from an obscure deputyship in the days before he was to become Chancellor twice and Foreign Minister five times in German Cabinets.

He was the man who brought a reversal of the Cuno crowd of passive resistance to Germany's former enemies, replacing it with a policy of reconciliation which largely restored the nation to much of its former international good standing.

In the chaotic conditions that gripped Germany for several years after the World War, Gustav Stresemann rose up as an antidote like oil on troubled waters.

It was as if Stresemann stood by while others tried to produce anything like a semblance of order and then stepped in to thrust upon the country his own ideas and schemes.

And usually he emerged successful. What he proposed often was at the risk of sacrificing his position in national affairs. His leadership, however, turned the risks into successful events and his achievements made him an outstanding international figure.

The greatest post-war statesman of Germany, was a characterization often made of him.

It was Stresemann who put an end to the Cuno policy of passive resistance to the Ruhr Valley and in its stead instituted a policy of reconciliation with Germany's former enemies.

DAWES PLAN

Together with Chancellor Marx, he represented Germany at the London conference that led to the adoption of the Dawes plan, and a year later, in February, 1925, suggested the idea of a security pact with France.

He won over Dr. Hans Luther, then Chancellor, to the advantages of a non-aggression pact and drew him to London to help draft the famous Locarno treaties.

It was he who secured Germany's agreement to the renunciation of Alsace and Lorraine and finally, he negotiated and steered Germany's entrance into the League of Nations.

In these events, of tremendous importance in the re-establishment of economic order in Germany, were accomplished by Dr. Stresemann before he was fifty years of age.

For his ability to change his powerful creed and adapt himself to the new order of things brought about by changing conditions, he often was called "the Lloyd George of Germany."

How completely he could change in the course of events was indicated by his new attitude toward the republic.

As late as 1923, Stresemann clung to his belief in a "Volkstaat"—a monarchy headed by an "emperor" chosen by the people. Three years later, addressing a convention of German students, he asserted his willingness "to protect the republic with my own body."

His latest outstanding service was at the recent conference at The Hague, at which the new reparations settlement plan was worked out.

HORN IN BERLIN

Stresemann, twice Chancellor and five times Foreign Minister, was born in Berlin May 10, 1878, the son of a restaurant keeper. He showed promise as a boy and his father, at considerable sacrifice, sent him through the universities of Berlin and Leipzig.

He specialized in economics and political science.

After leaving college in 1901 he became assistant to the general secretary of the Association of German Chocolate Manufacturers.

Two years later he was chosen general secretary of the League of German Industries.

From that vantage point he made his jump into politics, affiliating with the National Liberal Party. He was elected to the Reichstag in 1907 as a candidate of that party and became a devoted follower of Bassermann, the party's leader and chairman.

Ten years later, upon Bassermann's death, Dr. Stresemann succeeded to his post as head of the party.

In 1918 he formed and assumed chairmanship of the German people's party. He was married and the father of two sons.

The Result Of Quality

Here is a valued letter from a lady who runs a summer resort.

"When I first came up here to live in the mountains I thought it was a great hardship to be without cows' milk, but now that I know how to use Pacific Milk for cooking and table use I like it far better than fresh milk. We use Pacific Milk entirely at this summer resort and find it very economical."

Many thanks.

BANK INQUIRY IN GREAT BRITAIN

Brighton, Eng., Oct. 3 (Canadian Press).—Appointment of a committee to investigate the aspects of British banking and finance was announced today by Right Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking at the annual conference of the Labor Party here.

Labor has agitated for some investigation of the financial policies of the Bank of England, some critics asserting the latest increase in the bank rate was detrimental to industry and conducive to increased unemployment.

RESIDENTS TELL OF NEED OF PEACE DISTRICT

with the coast, but there should be no subsidizing of a railroad with any gift of large tracts of Peace River lands, he said.

The Peace River district must not be considered simply a mere adjunct of the southern British Columbia cities, he said. The Block was entitled to the shortest route to the coast for the trans-Pacific market.

TELEPHONES NEEDED

Mr. Groh, representative from the Dawson Creek Chamber of Commerce, made an appeal to have the Peace River Block made a separate riding so the district could have its own member to attend to the wants of the district. He stated Peace Coulee was the only place in the Block with a doctor, nurse, and a hospital and stated government assistance was needed to establish rural telephones.

SETTLEMENT WORK

T. Jamieson, recorder of homesteads, stated that when the British Columbia government took over the Peace River Block it would be a great mistake to abandon the policy adopted by the Federal Government in settling the land.

He also was opposed to any policy of subsidizing railroads with large blocks of land.

A. J. Berkerson, representative of the Rolia Chamber of Commerce, urged Mr. Atkinson and Dr. Gaddes to make a complete inspection of the hundreds of miles of rich farming lands of the district.

HEALTH MEASURE

Mr. Morrell, Government agent, announced the Government was prepared to assist in the upkeep of a physician at Fort St. John.

TO APPOINT AGRICULTURIST

Mr. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, stated that the Government had seen such large tract of consistently fertile land. He promised a district agriculturist would be located here permanently.

He advised the organization of farmers' institutes and the installation of clearing machines to keep seed free of weeds.

Dr. Gaddes expressed great surprise at large stretches of fertile farms and the prospect of the settlers. He considered the Block a great asset of the province. He thought natural settlement a more satisfactory plan than disposing of large tracts of land for colonization schemes.

guards at bay and had complete control of the institution.

FIREMEN CALLED

The fire department of Canyon City was called out in an effort to quell the rioting.

Ordinarily the institution houses about 1,200 prisoners, but a couple of hundred were on the prison farm a few miles distant at the time of the outbreak.

Several prisoners were armed and a raid on the prison arsenal is thought to have followed the outbreak of rioting.

PLANE SENT

Major Bruce Kistler, commander of the National Guard air unit at Denver, dispatched a National Guard plane loaded with tear bombs to the prison immediately upon receipt of news of the riot.

Warden Crawford of the penitentiary was in Colorado Springs when the rioting broke out. Deputy Warden William Greer was in charge of the prison. He was somewhere inside the walls and is believed to have been overpowered with the rest of the guards.

RAIN CLOSES SUMMER HERE; STOPS FIRES

FIRE EXTINGUISHED

Rain and persistent work on the part of fire-fighters, extinguished a large blaze in the brush along Sooke Road about three miles from Luxton early this morning after the conflagration had been raging since 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

According to Fire Ranger Dunn, the blaze was presumably started by a hunter before noon, yesterday. By evening it had taken hold of between two and three acres of brush land adjacent to the property of A. Hatch.

PACIFIC DELEGATES SAIL FROM HERE FOR JAPAN

M.P., son of the British Prime Minister, last night when he and other British delegates were guests of honor at a banquet of the Canadian Authors' Association in the Hotel Vancouver.

A better understanding between nations was the immediate result of such frank conferences, he said. As an instance, he said, a practical product of the meeting of the Institute in Honolulu in 1927 was improved relations between Great Britain and China.

Lord Haldane, head of the British delegation, and John Nelson, a member of the Canadian delegation, spoke briefly.

A GERMAN PEACEMAKER

WHEN DR. GUSTAV STRESEMANN passed away at an early hour this morning Germany lost her greatest post-war statesman. He was a German to the finger-tips. It is true that some time elapsed after the revolution before he accepted the change in his country's political system with the grace and resignation of a patriot. For as recently as 1923, prior to his succession to the Chancellorship previously held by Herr Wilhelm Cuno, he intimated to the German people that his conversion was by no means rapid when he announced he was in favor of a monarchy headed by an emperor chosen by the people—although there would be only the finest of distinctions between such an arrangement and the present one. Three years afterwards, however, he declared he was "willing to protect the republic with my own body."

In this unequivocal affirmation of his new faith he showed himself to be a man of the people who was born into the world as one of the people. For Gustav Stresemann was the son of a restaurant keeper in a comparatively small way of business in Berlin. But as a youngster he showed unusual intelligence and, as is the German way, his parents, at considerable material sacrifice to themselves, scraped the money together to give him a university education. At Berlin and at Leipzig he developed his talents and distinguished himself in economics. Thus prepared for the battle with life, he entered the Reichstag in 1907.

It was not until 1923, when he succeeded Cuno, that the international floodlight was turned upon Stresemann. It will be remembered that he brought a decided change in his country's attitude towards the situation in the Ruhr; he substituted a spirit of reconciliation for the passive resistance which had marked the French occupation of that section of Germany. Very naturally he fell foul of the Nationalists; they saw in his attitude a concession to the republic—as indeed it turned out to be, as the events show. But he countered these outbursts with a truth obvious to most of his countrymen, who at that time had accepted the republic as a permanently established fact, by saying: "It is impossible to govern in Germany without the Social Democrats."

Dr. Stresemann made no secret of the fact that it was his ambition to become Foreign Secretary, a position he held in five successive Governments. Only a matter of political necessity persuaded him to accept the Chancellorship. But he did not long to wait—he assumed the portfolio of his desire under Chancellor Marx towards the end of 1923—and the manner in which he discharged the duties of that office won for him an international reputation which always will associate his name with the policy that has changed Germany from a sullen nation, smarting under the disappointment of a great ambition unrealized, into one which seems to be doing its best to preserve the peace of the world.

Among the more memorable incidents of Dr. Stresemann's official life are his country's adherence to the pact of Locarno, which bound Germany and France never to go to war again unless all efforts at reconciliation should fail; the negotiations he conducted for Germany's entrance into the League of Nations, and his first appearance as the republic's principal representative before that body; his signing in Paris of the Kellogg anti-war pact; and finally, his presence at The Hague conference at which the knotty problem of reparations was disposed of.

It was no doubt the strain upon Dr. Stresemann which The Hague gathering imposed, only to be followed by his attendance at the Assembly at the League of Nations, and during the last few days his arduous duties in the Reichstag, which hurried his end. In his last hours, however, he was able to look back upon work well done, and many nations will pay tribute to his outstanding ability as a statesman and as an ardent advocate of peace.

THE TRANSFIGURATION

JUST AS NOBODY, FOR SOME INscrutable reason, is said to love a fat man, no one ever speaks up to express a downright fondness for a rainy day. The April shower, to be sure, gets a good word now and then; but the cold, drizzly rain of early autumn goes unhonored and unsung.

That is rather unfortunate. When we accept the autumn rain as dour and cheerless we are shutting our eyes to the plain truth of the matter. In reality, it is quite as worthy of praise as the harvest moon or the Indian summer haze of late October.

The whole face of the open country changes under a continuous rain. The neighboring hills, that ordinarily look quite commonplace and unexciting, grow misty and mysterious, as if they rimmed an unknown country where all the unknown trails met. A little grove of trees becomes a primeval forest, its tree trunks gleaming in shiny blackness, its scanty underbrush drooping low in the wet as if some dark Eocene era of sluggish reptiles and frightful monsters were about to begin again. A reaped cornfield takes on the look of a limitless desolation; a tiny valley is transformed into an enchanted vale in which any marvel might lurk.

At night the transformation is even more complete. Stand on the front porch of a farmhouse, after dark, during an October rain, if you want to encounter the familiar earth in a new guise. The steady patter of the rain becomes a strange chorus—a requiem for the dying life of autumn and a chant, from beyond the border, of the indomitable life that will succeed it. You can see nothing but darkness and you can hear nothing but the rainfall, yet you know that you are in the presence of a mystery.

And in the city?—well, a city actually becomes an endurable, a praiseworthy place when an October night brings a steady downpour. The black streets glisten and mirror their long rows of lights, changing from dingy thoroughfares into enchanted avenues leading to all sorts of improbable surprises. The downtown buildings bulk large and mysterious; they cease to be ordinary factories, office buildings and stores, and turn into towering cliffs that unconquerable men have made their own.

Look from an upstairs window over a rain-pelted city, in the cool of a wind-whipped night. The change fairly cries out to you. This is not your familiar town, with its ugliness and drudgery and monotony. It is mystic and haunted, the habitation of wanderers who have strayed from light into darkness and are pluckily making the best of it. Its buildings, where the lamplight gleams from windows, are the abiding places of miracles. Its streets, even the meanest, lead to unpredictable glory.

Look for these things the next time a rain boxes you in. You will see them if you look. You and your earth are nobler than you know.

PULVERIZED COAL

VANCOUVER ISLAND COAL MINERS no doubt have noted with satisfaction that the conference of experts which Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Mines in the Tolmie Government, called this week has concluded its initial business with the decision to put British Columbia coals to exhaustive tests with the object of discovering to what extent the product of our provincial mines may be converted into the pulverized form of fuel. The gathering was attended by federal experts and hearty co-operation between the British Columbia and Dominion departments of mines is assured.

Some idea of the important part which pulverized coal should be playing as a competitor of fuel oil was emphasized in a recent article contributed to The British Columbia Miner by Mr. William N. Kelly, R.P.E., of Vancouver, B.C. He observes that much interest in the question has been aroused in Great Britain and in Continental Europe, which suggests to his mind that we in British Columbia should look upon it as a "burning question" for us. Mr. Kelly writes in part as follows:

This interest has a twofold cause: (1) To re-establish the coal business on a better basis; and (2) to take advantage of the higher efficiency in the consumption of coal as fuel, over the old hand-firing method. There has been a particularly strong effort to develop the system for marine purposes also. Due to the large increase within recent years of Diesel-powered vessels in the merchant marine, there has been a large falling off in the building of steam-propelled vessels, and it is believed that pulverized fuel, in conjunction with higher boiler pressures, and single reduction turbine engines, will halt the invasion of the oil engines to a large extent. The burning of coal in the pulverized form is scarcely recognizable when compared with the older method of burning it on a fire-grate, with hand-firing. The never-ending labor of stoking, cleaning fires, removing ashes and clinker, the quenching of same, and the costly disposal, by the various types of ash-ejectors, made steam production at sea anything but a blessing for all concerned. Particularly when a low-grade quality of coal was taken on board at some foreign port.

Pulverized coal is comparatively cheap to burn, as the apparatus is not costly, does not require any great change in the boilers, takes up little space, is not intricate—can be run by the usual personnel, and does not require a great deal of power to operate.

As an example of the capacity of pulverized coal in comparison with the old form of firing, Mr. Kelly points out that at the Mond Nickel Works in South Wales three tons of pulverized fuel only is required to melt eleven tons of nickel slag, against four tons for fuel hand-fired, melting only nine tons of the same material.

Mr. Kelly quotes full details of what has been achieved in an experimental way, the shipping and other companies which now are using coal in the pulverized form, and concludes by saying that the coals of British Columbia are particularly suitable for burning in this way. He says, incidentally, that it would undoubtedly be a very important factor in restoring this province's coal industry to a measure of its former prosperity if the colliery owners would install a unit—pulverizing apparatus—in a colliery steam plant.

The Manitoba Free Press

While Canada possesses her own game of rugby football, there are in the Dominion many players of the older British game from which both the Canadian and the United States football codes have sprung. The steps now being taken at a conference here to form a rugby union of Canada, will, therefore, be followed with interest and approval. Each form of rugby played has its distinctive features, and the British game, fast and open in form, deserves its popularity.

By means of organization, interprovincial games will be made possible, while inter-Dominion games also loom as a possibility in view of the interest in the British Empire games which next year will be held in Hamilton.

Loose Ends

A good idea comes out of Chicago—which might well be copied here—if the stage is to survive Hungary, decides when it is legal to sneeze and be sneezed at—and the vigor of our race is demonstrated again.

By H. D. W.

LIKE THE proverbial dog with the bad name, Chicago has achieved such a reputation of late that the only news you expect to hear from it relates to the latest gang killing or a new bootleggers' war. It is refreshing, therefore, to read of one of the excellent things that Chicago is quietly doing for American culture. Chicago, it seems, has organized a Dramatic League which is seeking to preserve the legitimate drama from utter destruction at the hands of the triumphant talkies.

IN TYPICALLY Chicago style that city is going about the preservation of a great art in a thoroughly practical way. Members of the Dramatic League have banded together on a business basis and have agreed to attend a number of plays to be given in the course of the theatre season. Theatrical companies thus are guaranteed of a certain fixed return and can venture into Chicago without fear of ruin. The idea, it is said, has spread to other cities and people all over the United States who are interested in the stage will shortly be organized in its support.

SUCH A movement is coming not a moment too soon. No less an authority than the great Jane Cowl, an actress and producer who has spent a fortune on the theatre, says in a recent article that unless something of this sort is done immediately, soon there will be no legitimate stage left at all, and America will be the first great civilization since Greece which allowed the drama to die.

IN AMERICA to-day, theatrical men say, there are plenty of people who think that the flesh-and-blood action of the stage is not to be compared with its imitations, however clever they may be. The trouble is that these people are not organized in support of the drama and the drama is not organized to give them the kind of well-acted, well-produced and sane plays that they want. The theatre, in other words, is out of touch with its followers and they with it. If they can be brought together by intelligent organization, that minority of people who are willing to stay away from three talkies in order to see one real play, will be sufficiently numerous to bring back the good old days of the road show.

WE IN Canada have been rather more fortunate of late than most parts of the United States. Many talented English companies have come here and played successfully in smaller places than Victoria, while much larger cities in the United States are said to be almost entirely without legitimate plays of any kind. The support given the drama in our country, however, is not so great that it could not be increased. If we can retain our Canadian appreciation of worthwhile plays and use American business methods along the lines of the Chicago Dramatic League to keep good companies on the road, we may yet preserve the oldest art against the onslaught of our mechanical age. I can think of no more useful movement than a Canadian-wide drama league.

SOMETIMES OUT of the dark and dismal centre of Europe comes a flash of wisdom to startle and dazzle the more enlightened portions of humanity. Such a flash has just come out of Budapest in this wise: Josef Kovacs, a salesman in a department store, was showing a lady a dress. Suddenly an uncontrollable desire seized him, as it is likely to seize anyone, and he sneezed. The lady complained that Kovacs had insulted her and the poor clerk was dismissed without the three months' wages to which every worker there is entitled.

KOVACS WENT to the courts, but his employer insisted that he had a right to dismiss him under a clause in the law covering "serious misconduct" on the part of an employee. Kovacs, not content with law, brought history to support his claim. He said that Frederick the Great had once sneezed in a lady's face and had been excused by one of his courtiers with the remark, "The Roman emperors, Madame, were half-gods, and above human weakness. But our King, you note, is a whole man, with every human characteristic." The lower courts, however, would hear nothing of this and declared that even if kings like Frederick sometimes sneezed, an employee ought to be fired if he did so in a lady's face.

BUT LATER, it is related in dispatches from Budapest, "the Court of Appeals declared that a sneezer, duly equipped with a medical certificate to prove the existence of a cold, is entitled to three months' notice. The courts apparently neglected to insist that the sneezer, for his part, should give similar notice to the person about to be sneezed at. Apparently the latter is expected to feel compensated when the sneezer excuses himself by pulling out a medical certificate assuring his victim that he has a cold.

WHENEVER HISTORIANS become alarmed at the growing effeminacy of modern men something happens to show them that the fiery spirit of their ancestors still surges through modern veins, even if they are covered by plus four trousers. Not since the war showed the stuff of which this generation is made, has there been such a demonstration of our essential hardihood, as has just come from Manchester. In Manchester, it is announced, the great cutlery industry has recently sold fifty per cent more straight-edged cut-throat razors all over the Empire than at any time in years. Evidently, then, there is revolt among strong men against the painless and efficient safety-razor. Men of spirit are determined to take their chance of pain and destruction, to shave as their grandfathers did, or like them, not at all. The Manchester Guardian even foresees the day, not far off, when it will be the custom among men of real vigor to polish off their whiskers with a piece of pumice-stone in the best traditions of the ancient Romans.

General satisfaction is felt on both sides of politics that the election campaign is to be of short duration. As was expected, the annual meeting of the British Columbia Association Football League, which was held on Saturday evening in the athletic clubrooms, Nanaimo, proved to be one of the most important gatherings in the history of that organization. One of the first matters brought up was the necessity of a thorough revision of the constitution and by-laws, and this was followed by discussions on the question of purchasing medals for the members of the Garrison eleven, who won last year's championship, the proposed tour of an amateur English team through Canada, and the advisability of bringing the Provincial Intermediate League under the same management as the senior series.

Mackay Silver Millions

COMSTOCK LODGE

Gift to Nevada University Recalls $160,000,000 Mine—Helped Finance Civil War and Great Cable Enterprises

From The Toronto Telegram

Cast in bronze, the stalwart figure of a miner, pick in hand, stands gazing out over the vast landscape in front of Nevada University. The image is that of John William Mackay, an Irishman, who, in the days before the Civil War, had prospected rather unsuccessfully in the gold lands of California and then followed the pick and shovel trail over the mountains into the silver lands of Nevada. He got a job underground in one of the shafts of the famous Comstock Lode, and presently became superintendent, then owner of the mine. Toward the end of the 1870's this man, whose name is always pronounced "Mackie" in the United States, migrated to New York to invest his fortune of $70,000,000 in great telegraph and cable enterprises.

IRVING BERLIN'S BRIDE

Incidentally it was his great granddaughter, Miss Mackay, New York society girl, who created a sensation two years ago by marrying, against her father's wishes, Irving Berlin, the song writer and theatre owner. The pioneer Mackay and his millions have just again been brought to attention by the gift of a further $500,000 to Nevada University to found a science building. In 1908 his widow and his son, Clarence, started the benefactions by founding the Mackay School of Mines, Nevada, to which the family has to date contributed some $1,500,000.

The story of the discovery of the Comstock Lode that was to yield some $160,000,000 in silver and help to finance the American Civil War, begins with a picture of two indigent prospectors, Patrick McLaughlin and Peter O'Riley, digging a hole to get water to operate their rocker equipment in a nearby location where they had been panning the dirt for gold. Deciding to test the soil in the hole they had dug for water, they found the bottom of the rocker cradle covered with gold dust. With it was mixed a blue-black substance.

MUCK WAS SILVER

It got in their way and they did not know what it was. About this time tradition states, a man named Anthony Comstock came along and bluffed the two miners into believing that he had a ranch claim on the site on the ground they had staked. Thus he obtained a share in the property which was to bear his name. But Comstock sold out too soon and the ultimate profits went to Mackay and Flood and their associate owners. For the blue-black muck turned out to be silver and was soon to overshadow the gold in that astounding bill of ore. The find was only rivalled in richness and romance by our own Cobalt, where a railway blacksmith named La Rose discovered silver in a rock cutting of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, a mere colonization road of the Ontario Government which blundered right into the undreamed of El Dorado up north just twenty-six years ago.

MARK TWAIN KNEW HIM

Starting as a simple miner in the Comstock, John Mackay became superintendent. He had saved money and when Mark Twain went to Virginia City in the early 1880's to run a newspaper, Mackay was a man of importance. Writing of Mackay years later the humorist said: "He had established a broker's office on C Street. In a new frame house, and it was rather sumptuous for that day and place, for it had part of a carpet on the floor and two chairs instead of a candle box. I was envious of Mackay—and offered to trade places with him—take his business and let him have mine—and he asked me how much mine was worth. I said $40 a week. He said: 'I never swindled anybody in my life and I don't want to begin on you. This business of mine is not worth $40 a week."

STOCKS' AMAZING RISE

Mark Twain went back to Hartford, Connecticut, soon afterwards and later heard of Mackay, with James G. Fair, William O'Brien and James C. Flood, had acquired the Comstock Lode, whose shares were behaving in a spectacular manner on the stock exchanges. It hit a low mark of $1.60 when prospects were looking bad one time under their management. It had, indeed, sold at fifteen cents a share ere they bought it. Later it rose to a peak of $1,850 a share. An astute investor pointed out that an investment of $100 at the low would have brought a return of $1,232,100 at the top. Not even the famous Hudson Bay Mine at Cobalt, capitalised at $7,500 and digging out almost solid silver from the grass roots, could equal the Comstock as a stock bonanza, though the stock in the former was peddled at twenty-five cents a share and rose to about $125, making several neat fortunes.

LISTED IN TORONTO

Tiring of the west, John Mackay, like Rockefeller and other millionaires, gravitated to the great financial centre, New York. Here he joined with James Gordon Bennett, owner of The New York Herald, in the establishment of a vast system of telegraph cables in the Atlantic Ocean. It proved a new bonanza for Mackay and was later extended to the Pacific, so that messages could travel 17,000 miles from Paris to Shanghai. John Mackay died in London in 1902, but until a year or so ago the name of the Mackay Companies, whose vast holdings were taken over by the American International Telephone and Telegraph, was a familiar one on the Toronto Stock Exchange list.

Usable fuel to the extent of 320,000 tons is thrown into London dustbins every year. As fuel this is estimated to be worth $600,000, but it costs $1-450,000 to destroy it.

Edinburgh, Oct. 3. — Union of the Church of Scotland and the United Free Church of Scotland was solemnly sealed and ratified amid scenes of great impressiveness yesterday.

Members of the respective assemblies met in their own assembly halls and marched in procession to St. Giles Cathedral. As the processions converged near the cathedral, a rainbow appeared in the sky and was taken as a happy omen.

The Duke of York, High Commissioner, addressed the assembly after the services, stating King George had been deeply disappointed that he was unable to carry out his hopes of a visit to the assembly in person.

AS SYRIA SEETHED WITH RELIGIOUS TURMOIL

While squadrons of armed troops waited in side streets to prevent open violence, throngs of shouting Mohammedans militia through Beirut, Syria, in a great Anti-Zionist demonstration. The perfractured scene is pictured above as banners inscribed "Down With the Jews—Up With the Moslems!" were borne aloft through the streets on the shoulders of fanatic religiousists. Some Christians, wearing the fez which is the ordinary headgear in Syria, took part in the demonstration.

CONDUCTOR AND CHOIR REGISTER SIGNAL SUCCESS

Victoria Male Choir's First
Concert Promises Festival
Triumphs

Frank Tupman Makes Fine
Impression on First Appearance as Conductor

Two particular features stood forth last evening in the Victoria Male Choir's first concert of the season at the High School, and judging from the large attendance citizens generally recognized these resultant contexts.

The one was the first appearance of the organization's new conductor, Frank Tupman, well-known tenor soloist and choirman at Centennial Church; the other was the object of its programme—to obtain funds in assisting the choir's visit to Seattle to enter the men's choral competitions in that city's forthcoming musical festival. The audience present seemed unusually sympathetic, responsive, and delighted, and if enthusiasm counts for anything then last night's many demonstrations gave evidence of what may well be accounted to the future credit and welfare of this three-year-old body of singers.

Nearly fifty members stood before their director, The conclusions throughout were full of spontaneity and life, satisfactory in well-rehearsed deliveries and interpretation, and exact in enunciation, rhythmic effort and tonal shading. Mr. Tupman made a fine impression. He has a well-directed beat combining with no little baton suppleness. With such excellent efforts as were put forth last night, the choir's progress is assured, and its standard, to which all concerned are striving, should at no distant point of time be cast on a high pinnacle.

Their first number, "Comrades' Song of Hope" (Adam), immediately caught their listeners, so spiritedly and well it achieved. It was indeed a splendid effort, and again quite wonderfully done—the enunciation being almost perfect—were the two numbers "Lullaby" and "Victory," a manifest of the choir's lovely tone coloring, rhythmic effect and the conductor's interpretative perception.

These two are the competitive numbers in which the choir will compete at Seattle. Other numbers showing the virility and expansiveness of the choir were Protheroe's well-known "Invictus," Strickland's "Heath Dem Belles" (solo, Frank Spooner), Nevins' always charming "Mighty Lak a Rose," and Dudley Buck's "When the Corn is Waving."

The choir's opening efforts of the season and in the care of its new leader cannot but receive the support and encouragement of music lovers. The organization is indeed an important musical asset to the city.

MRS. ORMISTON McNEILL—
MISS BUCKLIN

Assisting in the proceedings were Rita Ormiston McNeill and E. H. Llewellyn, vocalists, and Adele Bucklin, violinist, all of whom have won outstanding reputations on local concert platforms. Both Mrs. McNeill and Miss Bucklin were heard in two groups. The former in the soprano numbers, first group (a) "Rose Scilly Blooming" (Spenser), (b) "Lithuanian Song" (second group), (a) "Sing Again" (Protheroe), (b) "Lullaby" (Kreidler), all of which were accomplished in good vocal style and with splendid diction. Seldom has she appeared to better advantage, and her hearers responded with rounds of applause, receiving in return an augmented number. Landon Ronald's delightful "Sylvan" (Miss Bucklin) numbers were: First group (a) "Canzonetta" (Ambrosio), (b) "Aubade Provencale" (Kreidler); second group (a) "Norwegian Dance" (Grieg), (b) "Liebeslied" (Kreidler). This young and talented violinist is making rapid strides and her recent achievements bear the earmarks of much future success. She, too, captivated her hearers and met with flattering demonstrations of delight. As an encore she played Hauser's evergreen "Cradle Song." Both these young artists were the recipients of handsome bouquets.

Mr. Llewellyn has a tenor voice of even and limpid quality, and met with much success. His two solos were (a) "A Secret" (Prindle Scott), and (b) "Jean" (Spenser). He would accomplish more by brushing up that most important part in vocalism—diction. Dorothy Morton, shared with E. H. Hollins the accompaniments throughout the programme. Mr. Hollins is the club's accompanist. It was a very gracious act on the part of Miss Morton to play some short solos during the absence of many of the audience, who had been called outside to rearrange the parking of their cars.

The humorous trio, "Maiden Fair" (Haydn) by the two serenaders, J. M. Thomas and J. Jones, and the late father, S. A. Veale, was well enjoyed, and it was inevitable that those present wanted more, and got their reward by the trio's further number "Give Me No Wife at All." Another impressive number was James Pettie's excellent singing of "The Windmill." He has a splendid bass voice.

Alarm Clock

A fine housekeeper credits her kitchen alarm clock with much of her efficiency. She sets it for time to start dinner, feed the baby its medicine, give her grocery orders over the phone, baking cakes, calling the older children in to help set the table and scores of other things.

Sweet Notes

A few drops of lavender or perfume added to ink makes it faintly fragrant which is pleasing both to the writer and the recipient of the letter.

Indian Woman's Season's Wages Burned in Stove

Alert Bay, B.C., Oct. 3.—At the Knight Inlet cannery, Mrs. Ned Alvin, an Indian woman who had been employed there all summer was frightened on a recent evening by a disturbance on the wharf outside her house. Fearing thieves, she hid her jewelry and her season's wages, amounting to $335, in the firebox of the stove.

The following morning, while she was absent from the house, nine-year-old Mabel, her adopted daughter, lighted a fire in the stove. Before it could be extinguished the money, which was in bills, was completely destroyed and the jewelry considerably damaged.

A subscription list was started at the cannery to replace in some measure the loss sustained by Mrs. Alvin.

J.B.A.A. SILVER TEA A SUCCESS

Women's Auxiliary Entertained Many Guests Yesterday at Club

The J.B.A.A. clubhouse at the Gorge was the rendezvous for a large number of friends of the association yesterday afternoon, when the recently-formed Women's Auxiliary entertained at a silver tea in aid of the funds, the affair proving an overwhelming success.

In the reception hall, which had been most attractively decorated with white clematis and streamers of blue and white, the club colors, Mrs. J. O. Cameron declared the affair opened in a graceful little address, and was presented by Miss Inez Green with a dainty sheaf of pink carnations and maidenhair fern on behalf of the auxiliary.

Mrs. H. G. Scott, Mrs. E. R. Crane and Mrs. George Sanson presided at the tea-table, which was effectively arranged with a silver basket of Michaelmas daisies and blue larkspur, with blue candles in silver holders. Mrs. E. Clements read tea-cups, which proved a popular diversion. The tea arrangements were in charge of the married ladies of the auxiliary, and Mrs. B. Armstrong was responsible for the table decorations.

PROGRAMME ENJOYED

A musical programme included piano solos by Miss Doris Hatfield; Miss Mollie Pailner, recitations; Master Alex Ord and Miss Isabel Ord, piano solos; Miss Dina Pastro, a spirited Russian dance, and an exhibition of the sailors' horripile by little tots of the Victoria West School, under the direction of Miss James and Miss Parfitt was warmly applauded.

Among the many guests during the afternoon were: Mrs. M. Oliver, Miss

SMALL CHILDREN NEARLY SAME ARE NOT GOOD COMPANIONS

Mrs. B.E. writes:—"I am a reader of your column and wonder if you can help me? My two girls are three and five years of age and they are almost continually fighting over the least trifles. I cannot seem to stop them. This is so wearing on me and my nerves are always remarking about it. I am not very tired and haven't much patience with the children, especially when this goes on every day. Please don't laugh. I am too discouraged for words. The children's bringing up seems too much for me."

ANSWER

Of course I won't laugh. This condition of mind is as serious as you are taking it and needs just better health, more patience and a better understanding of what should be expected of children. Right now you feel badly and their noise grates on you, making you in turn a scold, perhaps, and unable to handle the situation as wisely as you might if you didn't feel so irritated.

Children of this age practically always disagree. One child is still entirely self-centred (the younger) and the older one is growing out of that. Most mothers show favoritism in these circumstances, taking the part of the child who makes herself the least nuisance and telling the other child how hard she makes her life and how unhappy the mother is over her, and what a naughty little thing she is. Under these circumstances, the child just gives up the struggle to be good and decides she is all that is said of her.

Two children in a household must have the same toys, however simple they are. This takes away one frequent cause for argument. The larger and more expensive toys have to be divided fairly in this manner. If the older starts to play with the wagon, or doll buggy, it belongs to her until she is ready to give it up. She must play with it though, and with nothing else. When she is through the other may have it as long as she pleases. If this rule is enforced fairly, the children will begin to find out for themselves that while they are playing with the wagon they can't have anything else and they'll learn to trade and make bargains with each other.

If a toy is snatched away or a child makes a fuss about not being able to play with it, the one who is at fault will have to go in some other room and stay there until she is able to play good-naturedly again. One can't deviate once rules are made and understood. Then the children will give in to them without argument.

Let the older one help you. Children of this age love to, and then there will be fewer chances for argument. Children of two such divergent mental ages as this find it hard to be agreeable, while a year or two will make a great difference in their ability to play together.

Badminton to Experience Big Year On Vancouver Island

THE SPORTS MIRROR

TRADE winds are blowing lustily in the National Hockey League. Every day new trades or contemplated ones are heard of, and before the season gets under way, on November 14, no doubt the personnel of practically all the clubs will be changed around somewhat. It would be surprising if these same winds did not commence to blow very soon in the Pacific Coast Hockey League. The annual meeting of the coast moguls is called for October 31, at Vancouver, and the managers will, no doubt, hatch up a few exchanges here.

Connie Smythe, the indefatigable leader of the Toronto Maple Leafs, was in Montreal recently to discuss a bit of bartering with the Maroons and Canadiens. He is reported to have closed the covered contract of Hughey Fillion, former Olympic star, into President Frank Calder's strong box. The Toronto manager also has a few hockey players he would like to dispose of.

Jack Adams of the Detroit Cougars is vainly seeking an experienced defence man to bolster his defence and is reported to have designs on Bill Siebert of the Montreal Maroons for this role. He may also do business with Boston, where a report has enough material for two teams.

Pittsburgh, eager to secure any one of hockey talent, may throw most of their players on the market, including Milks, Darragh, Lowrey, Miller and McCaffrey. It is not certain yet whether Frank Fredrickson, who is slated for the management, will play or adorn the bench.

Boston is sitting tight on its championship combination, while William Foran, one of the new officials of the Ottawa Senators, is endeavoring to secure a scoring centre to replace Nighbor, and a seasoned defence man, who will bolster up the rear guard, along with Clancy and Smith.

George Patterson, the longed-for wing who filled in as right wing relief with the Canadiens last year, and who is now a Boston reserve, recently suffered a serious accident which will probably keep him out of hockey for the greater part of the season. He had his chin severely split in an automobile accident, and a gaping wound in the side of his face required several stitches.

Al Foreman of Montreal has just about landed at the top of the lightweight division. His recent smashing victory over Johnny Dundee, veteran of many years' ring experience, and former dual-champion, certainly places him in line for a shot at the world's lightweight title held by Sammy Mangott. Foreman is not a stylish boxer, but he is at the front of the sound of the gong.

Comparison of right and left-handed pitching is probably the basis of much discussion than any other department of play relative to the impending world series clash between the Athletics and the Cubs. The work of left-handed pitchers, comprised mainly of Grove, Walberg, Earnshaw, Quinn and Rommel, has been featured by the remarkable hurling of the first, both of whom rank among the game's greatest southpaws. With the Cubs it is different; for Bush, Malone, Root, Carlson and Blake, all right-handers, have borne the brunt of the pitching task during the season.

Connie Mack, doubtless knows that the record books tend to show southpaw pitching in world series contests overshadowed by the performances of the right-handers. That's discounting the efforts of some of the old-timers, notably Plank, Leonard and Babe Ruth. The books show that Plank lost more games than he won. And Babe Ruth in compiling a record series pitching record did so at the expense of other southpaws, the Cubs. Even the performance of Jim Vaughn and Lefty Tyler of the Cubs, who pitched in the series, were not enough to keep the Cardinals from winning the championship, held by splendid right-handed pitching by Mathey and Alexander.

Chief Bender, again, won three times from Rube Marquard, regarded as one of the best southpaws of all time.

After Slim Sallee, Ferdie Schupp and Rube Benton of the New York Giants had stood National League batters on their heads during the season of 1927, the Chicago White Sox right-handers, Eddie Cicotte and Red Faber, bested them in the series of that year.

One bright spot of the notorious scandal series of 1919 between the White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds was the slab work of Dickie Kerr, midgey Sox left-hander, who tamed the Reds twice.

KANSAS CITY TAKE OPENER

Defeat Rochester 4-3 in First Game of Little World's Baseball Series

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 3.—Victory yesterday in the first of the Little World's series games, the Kansas City Blues of the American Association take the field against the Rochester Red Wings of the International League to-day with the psychological advantage that comes with an opening win. The Blues won 4-3 in ten innings when Kibbel tripled to score Knochman. Contrary to general expectations, Manager Edward Harrison (Dutch) Hurling of the Blues plans to-day to start Clyde (Pea Ridge) Day, the pitcher with the voice like a fire siren. Day, like Tom Sheehan, who toiled all ten innings of the first game, is a right hander.

Dempsey Goes Over Big As Promoter; Fields Only Just Wins

Old "Manassa Mauler," in First Attempt as Promoter, Provides Chicago Fans With Card That Sizzled With Action; Welterweight Champion Forced to Limit in Order to Gain Decision Over Vince Dundee; Dave Shade Awarded Call Over Joe Roche; Haakon Hansen Provided Knockout Thrill.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—That greatest gate attraction of ring history, Jack Dempsey, has sold himself to Chicago boxing fans as a promoter of fistic entertainment.

Making his bow as a promoter last night Dempsey, who never failed to give fans what they came to see, presented a card that sizzled with action. The historic Chicago Coliseum, scene of the old mauler's inaugural show, was not packed the way he used to pack them in, but 7,269 enthusiasts paid $31,574 to see Jackie Fields, world's welterweight champion, forced to use everything he had to win a ten-round decision over Vince Dundee of Baltimore, brother of the boxer from whom Fields won his title last August.

CONNIE MACK WILL FOLLOW HIS "HUNCH"

Leader of Philadelphia Athletics Will Not Let Team Practice at Chicago

Will Make First Appearance Just Before First Game; Mental Hazards Cause

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—A report from Chicago that Connie Mack would not take the Athletics to Wrigley Field for a practice workout before the opening of the world series was not surprising news to those who profess to know something of his baseball methods. Mack is a psychologist and he is also known to play hunches. He may have other reasons for not wishing to introduce his team to the Cubs' park until shortly before the game time, but baseball experts who have been associated with him for years do not see it in this fashion.

There is a large scoreboard at Wrigley Field, also there are seats in the outfield which are said to be in range of a right-hand batsman's vision, which may prove a mental or visual handicap to batsmen not accustomed to them. Mack knows the conditions and according to dopsters, decided against practicing in a park devoid of packed seats and with its big scoreboard. Mack's decision to practice at Wrigley Field it will be with the stage set and all scenery, both moving and stationary in place.

Every ball park, in the opinion of most players, has scenery that may be put in the mental hazard class, but these psychological hurdles develop when actual contact with them. And Connie Mack, in deciding against a preview of the Cubs' battleground, seems to feel that "what you haven't seen can't be a mental hazard."

Chief Bender, again, won three times from Rube Marquard, regarded as one of the best southpaws of all time.

After Slim Sallee, Ferdie Schupp and Rube Benton of the New York Giants had stood National League batters on their heads during the season of 1927, the Chicago White Sox right-handers, Eddie Cicotte and Red Faber, bested them in the series of that year.

One bright spot of the notorious scandal series of 1919 between the White Sox and the Cincinnati Reds was the slab work of Dickie Kerr, midgey Sox left-hander, who tamed the Reds twice.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 3.—Victory yesterday in the first of the Little World's series games, the Kansas City Blues of the American Association take the field against the Rochester Red Wings of the International League to-day with the psychological advantage that comes with an opening win. The Blues won 4-3 in ten innings when Kibbel tripled to score Knochman. Contrary to general expectations, Manager Edward Harrison (Dutch) Hurling of the Blues plans to-day to start Clyde (Pea Ridge) Day, the pitcher with the voice like a fire siren. Day, like Tom Sheehan, who toiled all ten innings of the first game, is a right hander.

ATHLETICS FRET OVER IDLENESS

American League Champs Held Up By Rain Anxious to Keep in Trim

Players Enjoy Golf, Movies and Stock Market Reports to Pass Time

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—The champion Athletics are becoming somewhat irritable waiting for the rain clouds to roll by. A soggy ball park twice postponed their double-header here with Washington, and yesterday, with no sign of clearing weather, the games were tossed out of the schedule for good. The champions craved work, but did not get it.

Connie Mack had hoped to have all his regulars in action and bearing down on the Senators as a part of the tuning-up process for the big series with the Cubs, but rain ruined his plans. Games with the Yankees in New York Saturday and Sunday will furnish the Mackmen their only chance now of getting some real competition before the series opens in Chicago next Tuesday.

Loading doesn't appeal to the Athletics. The monotony of hanging around their homes and hotels has been varied by playing golf, but none of them regards it as a satisfying substitute for baseball. Fox, Simmons, Cochrane, Hale, Perkins and Summa are keen golfers and get out on the links at every opportunity.

A group of pitchers headed by Bill Shores takes in two or three movies a day, and sedate young men like Dykes, Bishop and Boley spend leisure time watching the stock market reports.

WOMEN WILL SEEK TITLES

"A" and "B" Club Championships to Be Played For Next Week at Oak Bay

Women members of the Victoria Golf Club will start play on Monday in the annual club championship with the class "A" and "B" titles at stake.

The qualifying round in each division will be over eighteen holes, with the sixteen lowest scores in each group forming the championship flight. The remainder of the fields will be divided into flights of eight. Match play will commence on Tuesday with the finals carded for Friday. Mrs. Hutchinson, present holder of the class "A" title, will defend her title, but a new champion will be decided in class "B," as Miss Jane Watters, last year's winner, is out of the city. The entrance fee will be $1, and the entries will close at 5 o'clock to-morrow.

Infield Of Cubs May Have Edge

"If" Grimm Returns to Form and "If" Figures Mean Anything Chicago Is Best

National League Champions Have Made 44 More Double Plays Than Athletics

Associated Press Sports Editor New York, Oct. 3.—The last time the Athletics and Cubs met in the world's series, nineteen years ago, they presented two of the greatest infield combinations of all time.

Time has enhanced rather than dimmed the fame of Tinker-Evers-Chance double play trio, and the famous Davis-Collins-Barry-Baker quartette of 1910. Neither of the infields that take their positions at Wrigley Field next Tuesday compares as a whole with those ancient arrays. From an individual standpoint, however, the Cubs have one of the greatest performers of all time in Rogers Hornsby, while the Athletics have a great youngster in Jimmy Fox.

Frank Baker was the home-run hero of his day and Chance a slugger, but neither had anything like the batting punch of Hornsby and Fox.

"If" Charley Grimm, the Cub field captain, is recovered sufficiently from a broken left wrist to be back at the top of form, Joe McCarthy's infield troupe figures to have a slight defensive edge on their Mack rivals as well as a margin in hitting strength.

The double play figures mean anything the Cubs have a more effective combination, for they have registered over 180 twin killings, as compared to around 116 for the Athletics. This is a distinct edge at third base, and the Cubs' infielders have an advantage of about ten points to the man with Fox and Dykes, Hornsby and English topping their rivals by substantial margins.

Max Bishop, the slender Mack second baseman, has a habit of rising to the occasion. He might turn out to be a series star, but his record can not compare with that of his great rival, Hornsby.

Bishop may be a better man at going back after pop flies, but Hornsby has had a great year in the field as well as at bat. His batting mark is 140 points better than Bishop's and his experience is a vital Cub asset.

DYKES IS BEST Joe Boley, out of the game a good part of the season, is a smoother working shortstop, than the twenty-two-year-old Elwood English, but not so good a hitter.

The versatile Jimmy Dykes, who can play any infield position acceptably gives the Athletics a distinct edge at third base. Norman McMillan is fast and he has filled a spot that gave the Cubs a lot of early worry, but the ex-Yankee is not as seasoned nor as dangerous a hitter as Dykes.

Three Division League Will Be Organized Soon

Will Include Teams From Victoria, Duncan and Cowichan; Game Going Over Big in All Centres on Island; Many Clubs Operating in Victoria; Garrison and Willows Started Play Last Night; Vancouver Island Championships Will Be Held Here.

With the noticeable break in the weather racquet swingers are turning their attention from tennis to badminton. There is every indication that Vancouver Island will be one of the biggest badminton centres in Canada this year as nearly every town and district will have clubs in existence.

The Garrison Club commenced playing last night and as there was a turn-out of sixty members a most promising season is assured. The club as usual will hold the Vancouver Island championships at the Armories at the beginning of the new year.

Miss Collett Shoots Great Golf to Win

Defeats Maureen Orcutt 7 and 5 in U.S. Women's Championship

New Yorker Springs Stunning Upset By Victory Over Virginia Van Wie

Birmingham, Mich., Oct. 3.—Gienna Collett, another climber to her fame yesterday by crushing the challenge of Maureen Orcutt, star from White Beach, N.J., 2 and 5, in the second round of the thirty-third United States women's championship at Oakland Hills, Miss Collett clipped five strokes from par on the rugged course, and was stopped with a loss only on the ninth hole by a birdie three off her rival's club.

Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, fell the victim of a stunning upset and passed out of the championship picture. Mrs. Leo Federman, of New York, turned the trick, shooting even par to conquer her 2 and 1.

STUNNING UPSET The defeat of Miss Van Wie, 1928 finalist and twin medalist with Miss Helen Hicks, of New York, this year, was the biggest upset of the tournament.

All of the remaining favorites came through handily yesterday, but Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd turned in the easiest victory of the field when she overcame Jeanette Hunter, of Pittsburgh, 9 and 8. Miss Hunter, who upset Alex Stirling Fraser, of Ottawa, three times titleholder, was off her game.

Defeat placed two players in the quarter finals yesterday, Mrs. Harley Higbie, who defeated Edith Quier, of Reading, Pa., in the hardest match of the round, one up, and Mrs. Stewart Hanley, who eliminated Mrs. Lee Mids, former western medal champion, of Chicago, 4 and 2.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, trotted to victory with a 5 and 4 triumph over Kathleen Wright, of Pasadena, California.

Mrs. Leona Pressman, of Los Angeles, shot a brilliant, except for the second, round, and eliminated Marion Turpin, of New Orleans, while Lorraine Wall, of Oshkosh, Wis., crushed Mrs. Harry Nelson, of Dayton, Ohio, 5 and 3.

Quarter final matches to-day bring Miss Collett against Mrs. Higbie, and Mrs. Hill against Mrs. Hanley in the upper bracket.

Cyclonic Winner Of Jockey Stakes At Newmarket Track

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 3.—Cyclonic, by Hurry On, owned by Major J. Court, won the Jockey Club Stakes here yesterday by defeating Dallas 7-5 in the sixth game of the series.

The betting on Cyclonic was 100-30. It was won on Bowditch and 33-1 on Plymouth Hoe.

The stakes were £2,000 with extras, and the distance one and three-quarter miles.

Billy Townsend In Trouble With U.S. Immigration

Los Angeles, Oct. 3.—Billy Townsend, Canadian prizefighter, who came here to meet "Wildcat" Carter in a ten-round lightweight match, next Tuesday, has lost a decision to the United States immigration authorities to-day. Townsend, it developed, failed to pay his poll tax when he entered at Vancouver, as did his father and brother, who act as trainer and manager.

Federal authorities decided to permit the trio to stay here until the fight was over and then ordered them to return to Canada for proper entry.

RAIN PLAYS HAVOC WITH BALL GAMES

Many Major League Encounters Washed Out Permanently

Cubs Win as Hornsby Adds Further Points to Batting Average

Casualties among unattached ball games, wandering aimlessly in the eastern storm, have been heavy in the last few days, but not one complaint has been registered by any fan. A bargain double-header involving the Philadelphia Athletics against the Washington Senators at Shibe Park yesterday was sunk without a trace, and moisture in and around the Polo Grounds caused Charlie Stoneham to abandon the final Brooklyn-New York game of the season to its fate.

The New York Giants are booked solid in Philadelphia and Boston for the four remaining days of the season, and could not play off yesterday's postponement even if they were mean enough to do it.

Couple Mack does deserve some credit, however, for not moving to Washington with his double-header, which could be played there either today or to-morrow, weather permitting. Clark Griffith, it may be recalled, recently hauled the Chicago White Sox back to Washington for one rousing game against the Senators before permitting them to go peacefully about their business in the west.

The wholesale curtailment of the eastern half of the baseball programme yesterday again left the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds alone upon the stage, and this time the Cubs did better. They fell upon the portly Jackie May with such violence that he had to be led from the premises in the eighth inning, with Ray Kulp in the role of undertaker for a defunct ball game, while the Bruins won by 7-4.

HORNSBY BATTING WELL

Sheriff Fred Blake handcuffed the Reds, neatly, but he had able assistance from Rogers Hornsby, who is bent upon finishing second in the list of National League batters, even if he cannot scale the top. The Rajah took two out of four yesterday, lifting his average one point to .381, which is only three notches below Jack's old record. Babe Herman, Frank O'Doul gained a point through a revision made by the official statistician of the league. He is all but a cinch to finish on top with his current mark what it is. Three good days against the Giants might even send him into the ultra-charmed circle reserved for the 400 hitters.

Brooklyn will not appear at Braves Field, this afternoon, as the contest has been moved forward to Saturday to provide a double-header for Back Bay citizens.

COAST LEAGUE

Los Angeles, Oct. 3.—Frank Shellenback turned in his twenty-first victory of the season yesterday and kept Hollywood one game ahead of the Missions in the waning second half of the Coast League race. He pitched the Stars to a 15-9 victory over Portland. Shellenback was hammered for nine runs by the Ducks, but helped win his own game by bounding out a homer, a double and a single, personally accounting for six of Hollywood's markers.

R. H. E. Portland . . . 9-9-3
Hollywood . . . 15-9-1
Batteries—Fullerton, Orman, Chertoff, Casarella, McDonald and Woodall; Tomlin; Shellenback and Severoid.

San Francisco, Oct. 3.—Six runs scored in the first inning were a big factor in the 7-4 Mission victory over Seattle here yesterday. The winners batted first, starting batters out in the box in the second, but were held well in check by Pippas thereafter. Seattle got ten hits, but could not bunt them to advantage.

R. H. E. Seattle . . . 4-10-1
Missions . . . 7-9-0
Batteries—Pippas, Pippas, House and Cox; McQuaid and Hoffman.

Oakland, Oct. 3.—Banging out fifteen hits, Los Angeles yesterday handed the Oaks a 16-3 trouncing. After scoring twice in the first inning off Basch, Angel Hurley, Oaks were unable to again dent the rubber. Jacobs, with four hits in his credit, led at the bat, while Statz was close behind with three singles. Edwards was charged with the defeat.

R. H. E. Los Angeles . . . 16-3-0
Oakland . . . 3-10-5
Batteries—Basch and Sandberg; Edwards, Joiner and Volkman.

Sacramento, Oct. 3.—The Seals were held at bay for ten innings yesterday by a rookie, Tony Freitas, but broke out in the eleventh to score six runs and put a sad finish to a real game. The final score was 6-3 for the Seals. The Seals almost clinched third money as the Oaks were defeated.

R. H. E. San Francisco . . . 9-15-0
Sacramento . . . 3-9-3
Batteries—Mails and McLaas; Penobsky, Freitas and Koerber.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

At Cincinnati—R. H. E. Chicago . . . 7-14-2
Cincinnati . . . 4-7-7
Batteries—Blake and Gonzales; May, Kulp and Sukeforth.
Brooklyn at New York, cancelled, rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Philadelphia, Oct. 3.—The double-header scheduled between the Philadelphia Athletics and Washington yesterday was declared off because of rain. As the two clubs do not meet again, the games will not be played. The American League season in Philadelphia is now closed, the new champions have but two more games to play with the Yankees in New York, on Saturday and Sunday.

Ty Cobb May Become Pilot Next Season

New York, Oct. 3.—Ty Cobb will return to the baseball world next season after a year's vacation from the game. Home again after a summer in Europe with his family, the "Great Georgian" announced to-day that he had been approached with offers from major league clubs, both executive and managerial. He will never play again, however.

"The executive end of the game has the most appeal to me now," said Cobb. "I am not ready to say that I would not manage a club again, although, of course, I shall never play again."

NAVY CHALK UP WIN OVER CHAMPIONS

Defeat Hudson's Bay 3-1 at Opening of Wednesday League Football Season

Batchelors and Saanich United Draw 1-1; Teams Shape Up Well in Opening

Displaying a fair brand of football for the opening games of the season, teams in the Wednesday Football League ushered in their schedule yesterday afternoon. The Navy, rated as about the strongest eleven in the loop this year, lived up to advance reports by taking the champion Hudson's Bay eleven into camp 3-1. In the other match of the day Saanich United and Batchelors played to a 1-1 draw. Both matches drew fair crowds of spectators.

At Beacon Hill Batchelors heralded their entry into the league by holding the young Saanich United eleven to a 1-1 draw in a hard-fought game. The teams played hard for the first game of the season and although there was very little good soccer to be seen the players on both sides showed lots of promise. Saanich have a new coach, a new club as last season, while Batchelors have organized a team around a number of last year's Rennie and Taylor club.

Saanich commenced the game one man short but, with the arrival of Blanco, their team was brought up to strength. Half an hour after the start of the match Batchelors lost Bob Crawford, their left full-back, who twisted his knee and was forced out of the game.

BACHELORS IN LEAD

One minute after the kick-off, Batchelors went into the lead. John Taylor, their fast outside right, going in fast to boot home his rebound after Restall had made a good save of Taylor's first drive. For the next half-hour the match was a hard-fought affair, the field to the other with Batchelors, who were kicking with the wind and slope in their favor, having the edge. During the rush on the goal Teddy Hawkes was fouled in the penalty area. The little centre-forward took the kick and put the teams on even terms.

In the second-half play was fairly even with neither of the goals being called upon to save many dangerous shots. Saanich looked like scoring on a couple of occasions but their shooting was poor. The same might be said about Batchelors' forwards.

Hewison refereed.

The teams were as follows:
Saanich United—Restall, Ashe, Morr, Love, Stonier, Hawkes, Tooby, Rigby, Simpson, Blanco and Wyatt.
Batchelors—Galloway, Crawford, McIlroy, Wright, Blair, Taylor, Addie, Plater, Gibney and Simmons.

Taking their old rivals, the Hudson's Bay, into camp, the Navy took away to a flying start in their opening encounter of the Wednesday football series at the Royal Athletic Park yesterday afternoon. The score was 3-1, both teams displaying some excellent football for the opening games and if this standard continues there is no doubt that the followers of the Wednesday League will be treated to some real exhibitions of soccer as the season rolls on.

Immediately after Reg. Hayward, M.P.P. had performed the opening ceremony, the Navy pressed but the Navy backs were safe and the ball returned to mid-field. Play stayed in centre for awhile and then Don Newell, former Y.M.C.A. player, broke away for the Navy and was on his shot. This spurt on the part of the Navy forced the play to the Navy's territory giving the greenhorns goal some narrow escapes. The pressure was relieved when the Navy forced a corner that went behind and the resulting goal kick carried the ball into centre field again. The Navy looked dangerous again but handling the ball spilt their chances. The Bays forwards did not play together very well and spilt a number of good chances. On a combined forward rush the tars sent a scare into the departmentals when a wicked drive just skimmed over the bar and immediately after this Sprid-Shipman made a fine save off Sprid-Shipman's drive. The Navy forced a corner but Sprid-Shipman was right on the job and cleared. The Bays' forwards were active after the corner and on a nice pass from Fish, Jack Payne, diminutive inside-left, sent in a hot one that the Navy goalie just stopped, but Payne was too quick and phila is now closed, the new champions have but two more games to play with the Yankees in New York, on Saturday and Sunday.

Dope On the Game — By Jimmy Thompson

JOE WRIGHT JR.
THE FAMOUS OARSMAN
WHO INTENDS TO LINE UP WITH THE ARGOS THIS SEASON

The name Wright seems to be as common in Canadian rugby as Cohen is in New York. This year, Joe Wright Jr., the famous sculler, is out to help the struggling Argonauts of Toronto in the race for leadership in the "Big Four" football group. He played snap for Argos last year and the boys found him mighty hard to bowl over. At Hamilton, Mike Rodden, coach of the Bengals, has the Wright twins in his line-up. McGill once had the McComb twins, who occupied regular inside positions and the Burt brothers, Milton and Sheldon, were middle wings with the Toronto Northview Juniors ten years ago. When the Burt's stepped into senior company they drifted apart, Milton lining up with the Argonaut team of 1921 and Sheldon with Partridge Canoe Club. Milton is no longer in sport. The twigs, Freddie and Eddie, the former better known as "Beano", are noteworthy players and should be very much in the line-up this season. "Beano" made his debut with the Bengals in 1926 as a substitute outside wing and the following year he became a regular on the backfield. He can play either outside, middle and flying wing or the backfield.

GORDON COCHRANE

In Gordon Cochrane, the Athletics have the best catcher in the majors. Last year he was voted the most valuable player in the American League. . . . Has continued that good reputation throughout the 1929 season. . . . The margin of Cochrane over the Cub catchers is as wide as Hornsby's edge over Bishop at second. . . . Cochrane is a college-bred learning baseball in many other things at University of Boston. . . . Also starred in football and has to his record a sixty-yard goal from field as a "Rah Rah." . . . A left-handed batter, always a .300 hitter, he is one of the most dangerous men at the plate in the American League. . . . Give considerable credit for the fine showing of the Philadelphia pitchers to Cochrane's masterly handling. . . . Has a fine arm and gets the ball away quickly. . . . There is no more courageous player in baseball. . . . He never quits and woe to the pitcher who is doing about as well as Cochrane doing the catching. . . . Such a pitcher is in for a tongue lashing he will never forget. . . . Bank on one thing in the play of the Athletics, Cochrane will hold up the catching end of the game.

ZACH TAYLOR

Fate seems to have guided the destiny of Catcher Zach Taylor of the Chicago Cubs. . . . At the opening of the season he was the first string catcher of the Boston Braves. . . . You will recall that team under the direction of Judge Puck was in first place for a couple of weeks. . . . It is almost certain to finish in last place, but won't have Zach Taylor as its catcher. . . . In mid-season, the Cubs, badly in need of catchers, got him via the waiver route. . . . Fate, by the way, was not so favorable. . . . When the Cubs went into spring training at Catalina, it was conceded that Gabby Hartnett would do most of the catching. . . . Prior to the opening of the season, something went wrong with Hartnett's arm. . . . Mike Gonzales stepped into the breach. . . . For a time Catcher Angley, now with Kansas City, had to carry the burden. . . . Johnny Schute was secured as protection. . . . Then came the deal that brought Zach Taylor to the Cubs and he has done most of the catching ever since. . . . Taylor is just a fair hitter, but is a good mechanical receiver. . . . He has helped the Cubs much, despite the fact he has never been regarded as a high-class receiver. . . . Has played with four National League clubs.

NAVY THE SCORE

This lead was quickly reduced, however, when right after the centre the Navy forwards went down the field and McDonald sent in a high shot that gave Shrimpton no chance and brought the teams to even terms again. Immediately after this the whistle for half-time blew.

In the second-half the Navy seemed to monopolize the game pretty well. Right after the whistle the Navy forwards went down the field but the Bays' backs were playing well and managed to keep their territory clear.

Jack Payne passed up a good chance to score when he shot over the bar after the Navy goalie had fumbled the ball. Robinson, half of the Navy, was playing a good game and was responsible for breaking up many an attack of the Bays forwards.

The sailors forced a corner and, in the ensuing mix-up, McDonald got his toe to the ball for the Tars' second goal of the game. Woodley saved what looked like a sure goal for the Navy when he got his foot in the way of a wicked drive that had goal written all over it. The Tars were playing hard and the whole team was working great although it is understood that they have had a couple more weeks practice than the Bays.

The third and last goal came from the foot of Spridell on a pass from Tommy Watt. In the dying moments

Capitals In Fine Shape For Match With V.A.C. Squad

Coach Dick Wilson Holds Nightly Work-outs in Order to Prepare Locals for Tough Game With Powerful Vancouver Club; Capitals Hope to Use Forward Pass to Advantage; Wentworth Star of Visitors.

Canadian rugby will be formally ushered in for the 1929 season on Saturday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park when the Victoria Capitals oppose the Vancouver Athletic Club. The match will get started at 2.30 o'clock and as this game was exceedingly popular here last winter a good crowd is looked for.

Although the Victoria team failed to make an especially good showing against the Meralomas in their opening game at Vancouver last week they are not worrying, but are confident of coming into their own against the powerful V.A.C. team, who just managed to defeat New Westminster 3-0 last Saturday. Coach Dick Wilson stated this morning his proteges are ready to give the Mainlanders a tough run.

Wilson has had the locals out practicing every evening this week, getting their formations and tackling perfected. Last Saturday inexperience played a big part in the Victoria team's downfall. Some of the younger players, appearing for the first time, were nervous and many costly fumbles were the result.

PRACTICE FORWARD PASS

The Victoria team has been working hard on the new forward pass and hopes to use it to advantage against Vancouver. In order to give the players real tackling practice a dummy has been installed at the Royal Athletic Park.

The Vancouver team will bring over several players familiar to local fans. The most prominent will be Wentworth, star of last year's championship Varsity squad. Tricky and fast, he is one of the most brilliant players in western Canada. It was mainly through his work that Varsity won out last season. He was the backbone of their attack. Other members of the Vancouver squad will include Carlton Moore, Brington, Seed, Tennant, Anderson, McQuire, Cranston, Gittus, Bartlett, Read, Greenwood, Finlayson, Soussie, Fanning, Gordon Weeks, McIlroy, Gordon Readson and Thill.

The Victoria team will be chosen from the following: Campbell, Forbes, Ronnie Mayhew, Bill Engelson, Jack Horne, Rowlands, Eddie De Blacque, Horace Good, Bill Lemm, Pete Turgoose, Roy Gault, Slag, Bobbie Tye, Bernie Kinsman, Hardy, Sinclair, Ford, Hume, Brian Hunnings and McDonald.

YOU'D BE SURPRISED

To Know That—George Burns has played with six American League clubs. . . . John McGraw once released Pat Malone and Rube Walberg. . . . Bing Miller is playing his second engagement with the Athletics. . . . Barney Dreyfus discovered Sheriff Blake, only to release him. . . . Norman McMillan, Cub third sacker, couldn't make good in the American League. . . . Zach Taylor, Cub catcher, was secured by waivers, Chicago alone claiming him. . . . Four Cubs, Carlson, Cuyler, Blake and Grimm, once belonged to Pittsburgh. . . . Art Nehf has pitched in four world series for the New York Giants. . . . Three Mackmen, Burns, Ehmke and Hale, made their major debut with Detroit. . . . Hack Wilson cost the Cubs only $5000, coming from Toledo in the draft. . . . "Lefty" Grove, purchase price $105,000, is the costliest performer in the series. . . . Jack Quinn, age 44, is the oldest athlete in the series. . . . James Cronin, age 18, Philadelphia infielder, is the junior performer. . . . Chicago will probably use right-handed pitchers exclusively against Athletics. . . . George Earnshaw is as fast as "Dizzy" Vance, but hasn't a good curve. . . . Eddie Collins has been an active player in the American League for 22 years. . . . Three American League castoffs, Root, Stephenson and McMillan, are Cub regulars. . . . Two National League castoffs, Haas and Walberg are stars with the Athletics. . . . Joe McCarthy, manager of the Cubs, comes from Connie Mack's home town, Germantown, Pa. . . . Connie Mack's last world series was 1914. . . . Since then he spent millions to get together another pennant winner. . . . Bevo Lebourveau, the perennial big leaguer, was recalled from the Milwaukee American Association club, just in case something might happen to the Athletics' star outfielder. . . . Mrs. McCarthy is an ardent baseball fan.

tionally high calibre after the boys have learned the game.

The project of bringing out eastern teams from either the Intercollegiate, Big Four or Interprovincial Leagues, was broached.

It was noted that the chances of bringing out such squads for post-season tours were excellent.

Miss Irene Fulton Tells How Cuticura Healed Eczema

"Eczema started on my face in hard, red pimples which in a few days would break and then scale over. While it was in this way I found Cuticura Soap and Ointment and my face would not burn, and the irritation prevented me from sleeping or getting any rest. The trouble lasted about four months. "I used several remedies but they did not seem to help me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they relieved the itching and burning, and in about five weeks I was completely healed, after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss Irene H. Fulton, Parrsboro, N. S., Sept. 17, 1928.

Saanich Council Tables Report Without Thanks

Councillors Stage Another Lively Debate Over Secession Issue Last Night

Councillor Hagen Says "We Have Been Goldbricked"; Reeve Crouch Disappointed

Denouncing as "vague and unsatisfactory" the proposals of the Provincial Government for taxation relief, to farmers of British Columbia in general and Saanich in particular, Councillor L. Hagen last night vigorously protested against approval being given by the Saanich Council to the proposed legislative alternatives to secession of the rural areas from Saanich.

The councillor attacked a report by Reeve Crouch which commended to the council the action taken and proposed by the Government, and when reviewing the promised concessions remarked "in effect we have been goldbricked."

Councillor Eden aroused protests from Councillors Watson and Hagen when he attempted to analyse the tax payments made to Saanich and benefits sought from the municipality by leaders of the secession movement.

WOULD THANK REEVE Councillor Paterson moved the thanks of the council be given the Reeve for his report, as published in The Times last Saturday. Seconding the motion, Councillor Stubbs pointed out that questions of secession and solution of tax reduction problems had passed out of the control of the Government.

Councillor Eden remarked that the secessionists would never be satisfied by any remedy alternative to their own view. Reeve Crouch agreed, declaring twelve men to be at the bottom of the consistent agitation.

"If these gentlemen would get busy and endeavor to co-operate with the Government things would be a whole lot better," he said, after Councillor Watson had agreed that secessionists would not surrender.

Councillor Hagen asserted that rural and urban districts could not continue in co-operation, and Councillor Stubbs interjected "the Government finds they can."

MUCH RELIEF The effect of the taxation changes forecast by the Government were received by Reeve Crouch, who stressed the benefit to farmers in elimination of taxation of farm improvements and the forecasted relief of land from the full burden of school taxation.

"Here we are spending hours of time trying to help you farmers and you will have none of it. The Government says 'No' to secession," the Reeve protested. Councillor Watson asserted the interests of minorities had been ignored. Asked for his view towards minority secession within the urban areas, whose plight was stressed by Judge Lampman, Councillor Watson expressed sympathy with such cases, who would be adversely affected by secession.

Councillor Watson objected to the motion to file the report and thank Reeve Crouch, as he opposed any thanks being accorded. He moved as an amendment that the Reeve's report be tabled indefinitely, and was seconded by Councillor Oldfield.

Frankly disappointed that his efforts to attain betterments for rural landowners met with no appreciation, Reeve Crouch remarked that, during his administration, more tax relief had been accorded farmers than in any previous period.

The amendment to table the report without comment then passed by a 4-3 vote. Councillors Watson, Oldfield, and Hagen voted in favor, and Councillors Paterson, Stubbs, and Eden against. Reeve Crouch did not vote. Reeve Crouch subsequently refused to allow Councillor Watson to present a separate resolution expressing thanks to the Reeve for his labors.

RADIO PHONE TESTS SOON

Progress Made on Campbell River-Powell River Service

Equipment for the projected radio telephone service to be given between Campbell River and Powell River by the Northwest Telephone Company is now being installed at Campbell River. When this work has been completed, the installation of the necessary apparatus will be proceeded with at Powell River. Tests between the two places may commence within ten days, it was announced yesterday.

For experimental purposes a temporary aerial is being constructed at Campbell River, where a new building to house the local telephone exchange and the radio telephone equipment was completed not long ago.

NORTHERN AIR MAIL SERVICE

Three Flights Into McKenzie River Area During Winter Season

The winter mail service to the McKenzie River district will be conducted exclusively by air, according to an announcement made to-day by G. H. Gardner, the postmaster. Trips to points in the extreme north will leave Edmonton on November 25, January 21 and March 25.

To Fort Chipewyan, Fort Fitzgerald, Fort Smith and Fort Resolution there will be a weekly service commencing on November 26. To Hay River, Fort Providence and Fort Simpson the service will be once a month.

A load limit of 800 pounds a trip will be made in order of precedence, as follows: Registered letter mail, ordinary letter mail, newspapers and periodicals, printed matter generally, parcels pre-paid at special rates.

Northern Manitoba Fishing Increases

The Pas, Man., Oct. 3.—Untapped lakes north of The Pas, made accessible by the Hudson Bay Railway, are teeming with whitefish and trout, according to fishermen here. Prospects of a record catch this fall are being entertained by northern fishermen.

It is believed there will be an increase of 100 per cent in the number of men engaged in fishing northern lakes. Last year about 300 men were at the trade. The season gets under way in mid-November, when virtually all the water stretches are frozen over.

ATE FIFTY-TWO EGGS

Earl "Hot Shot" Brammer of Ironton, Ohio, recently ate fifty-two eggs at one sitting on a wager that he could down ninety-six and, pleading he failed because of a heavy supper beforehand, he wants another chance. Two other contestants have wagered they can beat "Hot Shot's" best efforts—and all are in training now.

AT THE THEATRES

CLARA BOW AS BAREBACK RIDER IN NEW PICTURE

The Clara Bow fans turned out in large numbers to-day to see and hear their favorite in the much-heralded role of bareback rider and female Pageant, in the feature picture, "Dangerous Curves," at the Dominion to-day, Friday and Saturday.

They were not disappointed, even though the girl who made "It" a byword in parlors, bedrooms and bath failed to furnish whoopee of the mad flapper variety. In fact, there must have been those who were delighted to hear their idol in a part which called for more serious acting as a complement to the customary vigor and vivacity of La Bow.

The scenes of "Dangerous Curves"—and the excellent build, atmosphere as well as those of a big circus. Miss Bow is the bareback rider in love with Richard Arlen, a tight-rope walker. Kay Francis is the vamp who gathers all of Arlen's misplaced love to herself until the hero learns that Kay is false.

COLLEEN MOORE DANCES JIG IN TALKIE PICTURE

Although Colleen Moore has danced in many of her pictures, her dancing is recorded by Vitaphone for the first time in "Smiling Irish Eyes," the first National-Vitaphone special which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

Colleen learned an Irish jig for this all-talking and singing picture, and the rapid steps are punctuated with the clackety-click of her shoes as she goes through the dance. In previous pictures Miss Moore has proven her ability to do everything from toe-dancing to a "buck and wing," and readily picked up the steps for her jig in "Smiling Irish Eyes."

James Hall plays opposite Miss Moore in this first National-Vitaphone picture, which William A. Seiter directed. "Smiling Irish Eyes" was produced by John McCormick.

HIS PLAY TO APPEAR HERE

JOHN DRINKWATER famous playwright, whose play "Bird in Hand" will be staged at the Royal Victoria Theatre next week.

LITLEDALE HAS PROMINENT ROLE

London Actor to Take Part in "Bird in Hand," Coming Soon

When the company presenting John Drinkwater's sprightly comedy, "Bird in Hand," which the author himself has personally chosen and directed, pauses on its special trans-Canadian tour at the Royal Theatre for three days, commencing Thursday, October 10, several of those in the cast will be appearing in the identical roles they played during the year's run of this unusual success at the Royalty Theatre, London.

Prominent among these is Richard Littleale as "Cyril Beverly," the monied young novelist with distinct Socialist leanings. Till now Mr. Littleale's career has focused principally upon the London stage. He secured his entry into the theatre world by running away from school at Shrewsbury and securing an engagement with Fred Terry and Miss Julia Neilson in "Sweet Nell of Old Drury." He was a very small part, but was followed by a better one in the significantly successful "Scarles Pimpernel." He then toured the London music-halls as "Jimmy" in "Daddy Longlegs," and gained further valuable experience in Shakespearean parts, and in to-morrow's drama, playing juvenile roles in such standbys as "The Shaughraun," "Trilby," and "The Lyons Mail."

Famous Scottish Comedian Has Task of Lightening Life's Burden

Sir Harry Lauder, who has returned to this continent after an absence of several years, during which he made a notable tour of the Antipodes, will appear at the Royal Victoria Theatre October 14 and 15, with a matinee on October 14.

Sir Harry is undoubtedly the world's most unique stage figure. Hitherto his popularity has been based more on the light heart than the serious mind. People look to Harry Lauder to lighten the burden of life for an hour or two and to send them away from the theatre with the merry melodies ringing in their ears. Without stint he has ministered, and continues to minister, to this very great need in human life. The rich, resonant voice, the inimitable laugh, the grotesque movements, the simple, unrestrained human fun, make such a quaint and rare combination as to give Lauder a place which he holds without challenge.

There is, however, another side to the Scottish comedian. Lauder's contact with the realities of life have put a new note into his work—a heart note, which, however, does not interfere in any way with the persistency of his droll humor.

"MY TONIA" IS THEME SONG OF COLISEUM FILM

That popular melody, "My Tonia," is the theme song of the picture, "In Old Arizona," at the Coliseum Theatre this week. Over the new talking machine installed last week this popular song is well reproduced. Several times the handsome leading man, Warner Baxter, sings it to his sweetheart, Tonia, played by Dorothy Burgess.

Taken from O. Henry's famous short story, "The Caballero's Way," the story is well reproduced, well cast and splendidly filmed by directors whose names have been attached to some of the greatest films of the last decade. The settings of the picture are in Arizona and other states of the old south.

The talking machine enables the audience to hear the voice and sounds in the picture perfectly.

"KEEP SMILING" IS THEME SONG

Popular Musical Numbers in Gyro Show, Opening To-night

Popular musical numbers, featured by the theme song, "Keep On Smiling," will be a large part in the success of the Gyro Club show, "Keep 'em Smiling," which opens at the Royal Victoria Theatre to-night.

With a cast of over eighty, including the finest amateur talent in this city, the play is regarded as one of the finest the club has ever staged here. A plot which cleverly makes the most of many humorous complications and a round of laughter and song combine to produce high-class entertainment.

The musical numbers for the show are as follows:

Act I, scene 1—"Smile, Always Smile" (office men and stenographers); "Doin' the New Lowdown" (Swagger Dancers). Scene 2—"Oh Gee, Oh Joy" (chorus of maids); flower ballet (Polly Garden Girls and Rosebud Chorus); "Near and Dear" (Polly), novelty dance (Daisy Belle, Mabel and Bentley); finale, "Oh Gee, Oh Joy" (Polly, Henry, Myra, Merriweather, Marie, Bentley and chorus). Act II—"Tie-up" (office men and stenographers); soloist, Joe Ross; "If I Were You, I'd Fall in Love With Me" (Stella), finale, "Tie-up" (principals and chorus). Act III—Opening waltz, "Song of the Nile" (principals and chorus of guests); "Sylvia" (Metropolitan Male Quartette); "The Breakaway" (dancers from the Russian School of Ballet); "My Hero" (Isabel Dorell), a study in black and white; "The Wedding of the Painted Doll" (Black and White Ballet); Bowery dance, "East Side, West Side" (Jay and Louie), grand finale, "Keep On Smiling" (entire company).

PEARL STEALING FORMS PLOT FOR PLAYHOUSE FILM

Lovers of mystery, excitement and suspense will find ample satisfaction in "Black Magic," the unusual South Seas production now being shown at the Playhouse Theatre. How a trio of desperate outcasts turn local superstition to account in their scheme for stealing a fortune from a pearl trader is the theme, and the result is an absorbing study in the psychology of fear.

Local Squad Gains Honors In Shooting

The Victoria detective department's crack revolver team returned this morning from Vancouver, where they led expert police marksmen from all over the Province in a programme of various events.

The Vancouver Clearing House Shield, competed for by fourteen teams, will rest in this city for the year to testify to the efficiency of the local shots. Detectives Jack Rogers, Marcus Phipps and William Stark comprised the local squad and scored 78 out of a possible 90, tying with a team from the Vancouver City police force in the first shoot. The Victoria team won in the shoot-off.

The competition was shot at a moving figure target with an eight-inch bull's-eye on the chest, each man firing six shots.

It was the first time this shield has come to Victoria since it was presented for competition in 1925. The C.P.R. police team have won it twice, while the Vancouver and Point Grey squads have each had possession for one year.

In other contests, two seconds were gained by the local force. Detective Stark captured second honors in a "dodging man" shoot, after tying for first place with two others. Ninety competitors entered this shoot.

A special "globe-shooting" contest in which fourteen teams competed found the Victoria squad again in second place. In this shoot each man on the team was represented by a lighted globe and when his light was put out he was eliminated.

Detective Walter Caldwell was the fourth member of the Victoria squad.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A meeting of the shareholders of the Gorge Vale Golf Club will be held at 8 o'clock Friday, August 4 at the Board Room, Belmont House.

H. Caulfield and P. Hollovey were each fined $15 in the city police court this morning for driving automobiles faster than ten miles an hour past the Quadra Primary School.

Victoria Assembly No. 1, Native Sons of Canada, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock to nominate and elect officers for the coming year.

The Friendly Help make an appeal for a full size mattress and spring for a family which has just moved into a house. Chairs and any other articles of furnishing for this same family will be appreciated.

Formation of an amateur short-wave radio organization will be discussed at a meeting to be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the home of John Lawrence, 2560 Shelbourne Street.

To-day proved the biggest day of the City Fair. Sale to date, twelve parcels, for an upset price of $4,735, passing under the hammer before the sale was adjourned by City Treasurer E. C. Smith, until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

Mr. Justice Denis Murphy of the Supreme Court of British Columbia will address the Victoria Rotary Club at its weekly luncheon in the Empress Hotel next Thursday, taking as his subject "Freedom of the Press."

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce will gather at the plant of the British America Paint Company next Wednesday for luncheon, and will be conducted over the factory by J. C. and H. J. Pender. Lunch will be served within the plant, commencing at 1 o'clock.

The Victoria Real Estate Board will hold its regular fortnightly meeting in Spencer's private dining-room to-morrow at 12:30 o'clock. The agenda includes a report from a special committee on the town planning project brought before the group some time ago by Alderman William Marchant.

The Saanich Council last night divided equally upon the merits of taxation of improvements at the full assessed valuation. The council was notified that the matter will be discussed at the Municipal Union convention. Motions to leave delegates uninstructed and to support the proposed change both failed on the votes.

Hon. N. S. Longhead, Minister of Public Works, who is on a tour of inspection in the central part of the province, had the good fortune to bag an 1,100-pound moose when hunting near Barkerville yesterday, according to word received at the Parliament Buildings. After his hunting expedition the Minister left for Prince George.

The Saanich Council last night decided to purchase a used automobile at a maximum price of $800, for the Municipal Engineer, who has hitherto been paid a monthly allowance for the service of his private car. The council also granted Mr. Allan an increase in salary, in recognition of his services as a 1,100-pound moose when hunting near Barkerville yesterday, according to word received at the Parliament Buildings. After his hunting expedition the Minister left for Prince George.

The Saanich Council last night heard arguments by Harry Langley in support of his account for $630 for a transcript of the evidence given before Judge P. F. Lampan at the inquiry into succession and taxation last spring. Mr. Langley stated that no authority was given or implied by the Commissioner, for free copies to be provided to the public. The council last night decided to tender $100 in settlement, "without prejudice."

The first of a series of dances to be held this winter under the direction of Herb Huntington was held at night. About thirty couples danced to the strains of Fred Pitt's orchestra. The feature of the evening being Fred Pitt with his piano accompaniment. A tasty buffet supper was served by Mrs. Huntington. It was announced that the next dance will be held on October 16, followed by a masquerade dance at the end of the month.

Fred Landsberg, accompanied by W. H. Davies, paid his monthly visit to the Home of the Aged and Infirm Men, and donated $2 to each non-pensioner, as well as to those at the Jubilee Hospital. Club Men Honor Louis Marks As Esteemed President

One hundred and twenty-five members paid tribute to President Louis Marks of the Pacific Club at a big dinner at the club last night. The sentiments of the members towards President Marks and their appreciation of his work were voiced during the evening by the club members under the leadership of Dr. George Hall, who headed the toast list.

The Louis Marks dominion championship cup was presented to W. C. Moore by K.C. and the second prize to E. P. Allen. The presentations were made by Beaumont Boggs, who referred to the game and its outstanding merits for developing character and manly and social qualities. "Dominion is a game for men of intelligence, and I want you to note that women never play it," Mr. Boggs said.

Ralph Berrill presented the Louis Marks championship bridge season to Ernest Tait and Dr. A. E. McKicking. James Wood presented the Louis Marks championship golf cup to Ken Perry.

A. S. G. Musgrave presented the Louis Marks billiards championship prizes to A. Broderick and the second to Mr. Morrey.

The cups were all personal trophies put up by President Marks.

POTATOES SCARCE ON LOCAL MARKET; EGGS STILL HIGH

Failure of Farmers to Supply Demand Causes Rise in Price of "Spuds"

Eggs May Go to Seventy Cents a Dozen; No Halibut Reaching Market Now

Failure of potato growers to keep the supply up to demand on the wholesale market resulted in "spuds" going up fifteen cents a sack to-day.

It is understood that growers are waiting until the potatoes have matured as much as possible in the ground before digging them.

The coming rain is expected to relieve the situation considerably, as farmers will not take the chance of letting their crops rot in wet ground.

Potatoes and persimmons are due on wharves from to-morrow from California. Local vegetable marrow and other small farm produce is still filtering into the market, but not in any great quantity.

SLIGHT DROP
Wholesale prices of hogs and lamb were reduced one cent a pound to-day, but the market remains steady and no exceptional drop is expected in the meat division.

Egg prices remain virtually the same on both wholesale and retail stalls, but this year they are expected to soar considerably higher than last year. Already a scarcity has been noticed, and as the cold weather on eggs will be more difficult to obtain. Experts say they will not be surprised to see them reach sixty-five or seventy cents a dozen for cases.

Halibut is no longer coming into the market. Very few shipments are being sent out by the cold storage plants.

Local Rotary Softball Team Victors Again

In a return match with the Nanaimo Club, the Victoria Rotary Club softball team emerged victorious by 28-8 yesterday. The first game, played at Nanaimo, was also won by the Victoria team. At the club luncheon to-day W. P. McConnell, Dr. V. Smith and D. W. Pender, who were on the team's success, E. de Lorme entertained both teams at dinner following the game.

NEW CLASS AT NIGHT SCHOOL

A new class in diesel engines will be opened in connection with the work of the night school on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Victoria High School. It was announced by W. H. Smith, supervisor of technical education, for the starting of a wintering campaign at a result of their house-to-house canvass to elect R. A. Wootton over Mr. Elliott, met with denials on the part of Mr. Wootton's candidates, who declared that the candidate had nothing to do with such a move.

Funeral To-day Of Late Miss Ridland

Funeral services for the late Miss Janet Margaret Ridland of West Saanich Road, who passed away in St. Joseph's Hospital on Monday after a lingering illness, were held this morning. The cortege leaving the B.C. Funeral Parlors on Broughton Street, and proceeding to St. Andrew's Cathedral. The requiem mass was taken care of by Father C. E. Evans, rector of the Cathedral, who also conducted the service at the graveside in Ross Bay Cemetery.

A number of beautiful floral tributes were received, and will be shown the high esteem in which the late Miss Ridland was held by her friends. Representatives of the Children of Mary Sodality, of which Miss Ridland was a member, were present at the service this morning. Those acting as pallbearers were: Harry Hartnell, George Hartnell, Reg. Colbert, George Brady, J. K. Nesbitt and P. X. O'Neill.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

LEADERS ELECTED
At a meeting of the Senior Gymnasium Leaders Corps held Tuesday night the following officers were elected: President, Allan Stewart; Vice-president, Alfred Green; Secretary, William Stewart; Treasurer, William Stewart.

SWIMMING CLUB
Over twenty members of the Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club met last night for their first indoor work-out of the season. Coaches Colin McFadyen and Archie McKinnon were enthusiastic over the turn-out and had a busy time putting each individual through his paces.

A social hour, convened by Pat Copeland and Harry Robson which included delightful refreshments was enjoyed by everyone. A short business session was then taken care of and officers were elected to take care of the posts left vacant by Audrey Griffin, Gwen Bailey and Ken Derbyshire.

The officers who will carry on for the season are: President, W. B. Griffiths; Vice-president, W. B. Griffiths; Secretary, W. B. Griffiths; Treasurer, W. B. Griffiths.

CLASSES COMMENCE
Getting away to a flying start the women's and girls' swimming classes commenced last evening at the Y.M.C.A. under the leadership of Archie McKinnon and Pat Copeland. The members were pleased at the results achieved in one night.

No more applications for next Wednesday's lesson.

MacDonald Arrival Ceremonies to Come Over Air To-morrow

Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, British Premier, will be heard over the air from New York when he speaks during the arrival ceremonies at the Empire Hotel to-morrow morning. The event will be relayed over the National Broadcasting Company's chain and will come to Pacific coast listeners from station K.O.M., Seattle, to-morrow morning.

From 6.30 to 8 o'clock the Premier's reception and speech will be sent over the air from New York, while between 1 and 2 o'clock his arrival and reception at Washington, B.C., will be broadcast.

AIRPORT MEETING WILL BE TUESDAY

The visit of Squadron Leader J. McLeod, commander of the Dominion Air Station at Jericho, was postponed to-day. The air officer was expected to attend a joint meeting of the industrial committee of City Council and the port development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, called for 2 o'clock this afternoon, but was unable to come to-day. The meeting has been stood over until Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, by arrangement between Mayor Herbert A. Brown and Squadron Leader McLeod. Discussion of the seaplane base issue will then be held.

FACTIONS PLAN TO JAM HALL IN PARTY BATTLE

Great Crowd Expected at To-night's Struggle for Conservative Party Control

Conservative association managers said this afternoon that the crowd at to-night's annual meeting at the Chamber of Commerce would be so great that they did not know how they would be able to pack them all in.

So lively has the fight developed between the two factions over the effort of the four city members and the cabinet to gain control of the association by ousting P. C. Elliott as president and putting in their own ticket, that it was expected the hall would be more than an hour before the time set for the meeting at 8 o'clock.

Fire at Langford Soon Under Control

A fire started on Leigh Road, Langford, B.C., yesterday afternoon, at the corner of E. W. Ismay's property, where the grass and broom burned up to the door of his garage, when the wind drove it over in the direction of H. Cattara's garage, which was burned to the ground. Fire Ranger H. F. Dunn, being absent fighting a fire at Sooke, residents turned out in force and got the fire under control.

GROUP TO GREET MACDONALD AT NEW YORK PIER

Secretary of State Stimson Will Head U.S. Officials at Battery

Washington, Oct. 3. (By C. P. Williamson, Associated Press Staff Writer).—A very official but diplomatically young trio will greet Premier MacDonald upon his arrival in the United States to-morrow.

Secretary Stimson and Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador, will lead something of the dignity of age to the welcome to the British statesman, but the three officials who will accompany them to New York as the "little reception committee" are all officials younger than thirty-five.

PROGRESS IN ROTARY TOLD TO MEMBERS

John Nelson, Former Victorian, Tells of Moves Toward Peace

Organization Is Entering Epoch of International Goodwill

John Nelson of Montreal, supervisor of public relations for the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, a former resident of Victoria, to-day renewed associations in this city when he addressed the Rotary Club members at luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

Mr. Nelson, who is secretary of the Canadian Institute of Civic Relations, is en route to Kyoto, Japan, where he will attend the second biennial conference of the Institute of Pacific Relations.

There was a sort of wistfulness for him returning to the coast, said Mr. Nelson, in recalling his former associations in this city, in which he lived for ten years.

Mr. Nelson, who is Governor of District 28 of International Rotary, which includes New York City, concluded visits to fifty-five Rotary clubs.

As a result of this tour, he had begun to ask himself what Rotary actually was, he said.

Rotary to-day was not what it used to be. It was not what he joined twenty-five years ago, he said. In those days it was a case of members helping each other, and the thought of community service was secondary.

"There may be some clubs like that left," he said, "but I don't think you or I meet them."

NEED NOT WORRY
Rotary need not worry about criticism directed at it until the members themselves become conscious of its needs. Certainly they did not feel this at the present time.

Rotary was not unique in its name or its weekly meeting, or its single classifications, Mr. Nelson said. In the days of John Milton there was a "Rotas" club of which he was a member. In Queen Elizabeth's day there was a club which had two members could be of the same name.

"Rotary did not create the single classification idea, but it has put a full weight upon it. Rotary directs the each member must represent the principles of his own calling," he added.

Mr. Nelson stressed the necessity for attendance of the club members. Even if a member attended every meeting in the year and sat at a different table each time, he would only begin to touch the border of fraternal possibilities.

"Rotary is a fraternity of dissimilarity. Therefore, frequent contacts are necessary," he stressed.

"The finest thing we do in Rotary is to bring into a club and unite in the idea of service men who would never have mixed by any other means."

Mr. Nelson discussed the work proposed by the Rotary International service committee. Just as a club would eliminate a member who was not in a community, International Rotary was attempting to do the same thing between nations.

Discussing his trip to Kyoto, Mr. Nelson declared that forty-four Canadian statesmen's visit to the White House, and men and women were going at their own expense to consider what could be done to eliminate in the future the possibility of another such catastrophe as the Great War.

"The next war, if God forbid, there should be one, will not be one of conquest but one of extermination. It will be a job for friends and devils not for men," he emphatically declared.

Rotary's part in peace was stressed by Mr. Nelson. Rotary was in fifty countries and had a broad foundation upon which peace could be built.

"We are on the threshold of a great epoch in Rotary, in which efforts will be directed towards international good will. In the past twenty-five years it has been an epoch of goodwill in business," he concluded.

Fire at Langford Soon Under Control

A fire started on Leigh Road, Langford, B.C., yesterday afternoon, at the corner of E. W. Ismay's property, where the grass and broom burned up to the door of his garage, when the wind drove it over in the direction of H. Cattara's garage, which was burned to the ground. Fire Ranger H. F. Dunn, being absent fighting a fire at Sooke, residents turned out in force and got the fire under control.

Lulworth Castle, Architectural Gem, Destroyed By Fire

Famed Old Structure, Which Has Had Kings as Guests Since Earliest Days, Held Rare Collection of Tapestries.

Swanage, Dorset (By Mail).—Lulworth Castle, one of the most perfect Elizabethan mansions in the country and the property of Herbert Weld, the explorer and yachtsman, has been completely burnt out. Only the outer walls of the castle stand, the entire interior having collapsed into a smouldering heap. Owing to the lack of water the four fire brigades in attendance had to abandon their efforts to extinguish the flames and concentrate on saving the valuable period furniture, tapestries, and art treasures.

GIRLS' SALVAGE WORK

As the fire ate its way downwards from the upper storey where it started a party of thirty-six Bournemouth Girl Guides, who were camping in the castle grounds, dashed bravely into the lower rooms and assisted in the salvage work.

Aid was also given to the firemen by a party of men from the Royal Tank Corps camp at Bovingdon.

The alarm was raised shortly after breakfast by a housemaid who heard the cracking of glass in an upper room.

The fire brigades from Dorchester, Swanage, Weymouth, and Poole were early on the scene, and the tenants and villagers were summoned by the ringing of a medieval iron bell in one of the towers.

The firemen were able to get a cable hose nearly two miles long to the sea at Lulworth Cove. The pressure obtained was inadequate, however, and the brigades had to turn their atten-

THEIR SERIAL NOVELS OUT IN BOOK FORM

Novels by these authors, which had their original publication as newspaper serials, are now out in book form. Published by The White House Publishers. It is estimated that their stories already have reached a newspaper public of more than 40,000,000, and readers of The Times will remember these writers as authors of some of their favorite serials. The books include "Daughters of Midas" and "The Penny Princess," by Anne Austin; "Orchid" and "Whirlwind," by Eleanor Early, and "The Yellow Stub" and "The Blazing Horizon," by Ernest Lynn. They are bound in the regulation boards but will sell for 50 cents.

WATER SUPPLY FAILS

It actually seemed as though the fire was being subdued, and that only one wing would be destroyed, when the water supply suddenly failed.

Lulworth Castle had been visited by six English Kings, and for a time after 1836 was the residence of Charles X of France.

The "King's Room," one of the most complete apartments of period furniture in the world, was destroyed soon after the fire began. In it was lost the magnificent four-poster bed which for centuries had been kept for the exclusive use of visiting royalty.

Mr. Weld, the owner, was in residence, and helped to superintend the carrying out of most of the contents to the lawn. He told me this evening that he believed the fire originated in the living room at the top of one of the four towers.

The English monarchs who were guests at Lulworth were James I, Charles II, James II, George II, George IV, and Edward VII. The castle was used by James I as a place of refuge from the plague, and was occupied by each side in turn during the Great Rebellion.

MANSION FIRE CAUSES

This is the eighteenth century house fire this year. In the majority of instances it has been presumed that the outbreaks were caused by old timber being too near modern grates, or by the wearing away of the insulation of electric wires which were installed years ago. This year's fires include: Alfreton Park, Derbyshire, Jan. 29. Little Shelford Hall, Cambridgeshire, Feb. 24.

Feddal Castle, Perthshire, March 3. Hazel Manor, Compton Martin, Somerset, March 4.

Whiteladies, Maidenhead, Berkshire, March 24.

Bowhill, Selkirk, March 30. Glenorchy House, North Berwick, April 7.

Lyndford Hall, Thetford, Norfolk, April 22.

The Elms, Abberley, Worcester, April 24.

Kirkley Hall, near Newcastle on Tyne, May 19.

Cottisford House, Bloemfontein, Oxfordshire, May 24.

Glenford Lodge, Middlesbrough, June 16.

Glenarm Castle, Antrim, June 25.

Drylie House, Ross and Cromarty, June 30.

Greenfield, Wilmington, Dartford, Kent, July 28.

Cantrill's Hall, Droylsden, Manchester, August 3.

Transcanada Phone Circuit Soon to Open

Victoria Will Be Able to Speak With Halifax Over All-Canadian Circuit

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Within two years a transcanada telephone line will be completed from Halifax to the Pacific Coast, and Canadians will be able to talk from coast to coast over an all-Canadian wire. The line will cost approximately $10,000,000.

Already it is possible to talk by telephone between the different provinces, but for conversation across Canada it is necessary to utilize United States lines. The linking of Halifax and Winnipeg by all Canadian lines marks the first step toward the ultimate goal.

It is just a year since the first, or central link in the transcanada circuit was completed between Quebec City and Winnipeg. Co-operation of the Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, the Manitoba Government Telephone System and the municipal system of Port Arthur and Fort William made this possible.

Technical difficulties of unexpected severity were solved, one by one, and many troubles were experienced in bridging the gap in the sparsely settled territory between Sudbury and the Head of the Lakes.

Completion of the all-Canadian telephone system, probably exceeding 22,000 miles, will bring Montreal or Toronto into direct communication with Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Regina and other important cities in the western provinces.

MANY TROUBLES ENCOUNTERED

The subject of transcontinental circuits sounds almost commonplace in these days of phenomenal advance in telephony, radio, television, and other wondrous by-products of the telephone. However, experts representing the largest telephone companies in Canada, are concentrating on this gigantic programme of engineering and construction, which will result in an all-Canadian coast-to-coast communication system which will bring telephone independence to Canada.

Without the elimination of the necessity of switching by a round about line through United States points, new rates between different points should result in considerable savings to subscribers.

Canada's provinces are well provided for in the matter of telephones, and their facilities for communication between one province and another. But the lack of linking individual lines into one transcanada system is a much greater undertaking than appears at first thought.

REQUIRES CO-ORDINATION

In the first place it requires a faultless co-ordination of possibly a dozen individual telephone systems and the perfect conservation of delicate talking currents which carry the feeble sound waves.

These sound waves are transformed on the telephone into feeble power impulses. Yet these impulses must be maintained over great distances, and the longer distances the more involved becomes the apparatus and the process of transmission.

The telephone repeater is the key-stone around which is built up the necessary voice structure. Situated at strategic points along the line, notably Quebec, Montreal, Pembroke, Kingston, Toronto, North Bay, Fort William and Winnipeg, the repeater stations, catch the faint voice currents, revivify and strengthen them and send them on their way in a smooth communication flow. At each station this boosting up process is repeated, and the message is thus maintained throughout its long journey and heard in its original strength at the receiving telephone.

IS ULTIMATE GOAL

Although many adjustments will be necessary before complete transcanada transmission is possible, this coast to coast service is the ultimate goal of the telephone systems in Canada. Westward, extensions of the Ontario-Manitoba link are planned to include the Saskatchewan system, and with the completion of a British Columbia-

Alberta line, Winnipeg - Vancouver direct circuits will be available

With all connecting lines constructed, there will remain the problem of building up a complicated network of repeaters and similar aids to good transmission, so that east and west coasts will be able to talk.

In the meantime, continuous efforts will extend gradually the range of commercial transmission and bring nearer to complete realization the dream of an all red transcanada telephone line.

BRUNSWICK ALONE OFFERS SCIENTIFIC PROOF

THE combined forces of Brunswick Radio engineers and master cabinet makers, backed by a $40,000,000 organization, have produced a musical instrument that has created a new standard of reception.

To give you authentic proof of its performance, a "test" programme was made on May 4th, 1929.

Every Brunswick dealer is now prepared to demonstrate to you the results of this daring test for Tone and Reception—scientific proof that Brunswick alone can give you.

Visit your nearest Brunswick dealer at once, and prove for yourself why only a Brunswick has "Studio Quality" reception.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, Oct. 3.—Wheat: Market opened steady at prices about unchanged from last night's close, and while there was some good buying in evidence, offerings were fairly liberal and with little or no export sales reflected here the market took on a rather heavy appearance and prices declined nearly two cents. The market was largely a fight between the local pit crowd, with some good strong interest taking the offerings, but the bears had the assistance of some hedging pressure during the first part of the day, while later there was some selling of May by Chicago against purchases of their own May at six cents difference.

Export sales appeared to have been a little larger overnight, and the United Kingdom and the continent both took some No. 2 and 3 northern and some No. 5, but the business was quiet for all grades and several more figures were available, although seaboard estimates at around 700,000 bushels, largely Manitoba. The local cash market was quiet, but demand keeps up for all grades and several more figures were available, although seaboard estimates at around 700,000 bushels, largely Manitoba. The local cash market was quiet, but demand keeps up for all grades and several more figures were available, although seaboard estimates at around 700,000 bushels, largely Manitoba.

Millers report flour situation unchanged with just a small export business done, the domestic demand being also slow. Most mills are running about half-time. There was no interest shown in the durum. The weather in Argentina is reported as clear and cool, too cool for crop growth while the recent rains have been insufficient in some important areas. Deliveries on October contract continues light.

Coarse Grain: These markets all closed in sympathy with the weakness in wheat. There was little or no interest shown in barley, but oats continue in good demand for eastern Canadian trade. Rye demand flat with the market following the trend of wheat.

Flax: After a dull uninteresting session with a little scattered liquidation in evidence, the market closed from four cents to 2 1/2.

The Innocent Cheat

By Ruth Dewey Graves
AUTHOR OF "RICH GIRL-POOR GIRL," ETC.

Brent had planned to stay at Bramblewood that night but when he learned that the housekeeper had sent for Eva Ennis, thinking Helen would want her closest friend with her, he decided otherwise.

He could not go before she came, however. Marks and Anne, and even Dr. Ralston, turned to him as the one who would naturally take charge of all arrangements for the funeral. Knowing that Eva was expected, he was anxious to get away but one detail following another kept him there. Dr. Ralston, he learned, had been told by Mr. Cunningham that Helen had been his ward for years and Brent did not wish to shift any of his newly-acquired responsibility.

He met Eva at the late dinner that was served for them alone. Dr. Ralston had gone and Helen had been put to bed.

Brent endeavored to avoid Eva's glance but he could feel her eyes were searching his face for an answer to his coldness. He felt he must give some explanation.

"Helen's affairs have required a lot of looking after lately," he said more or less casually, "and now that Mr. Cunningham is dead I shall not have any time for myself at all."

Eva drew in her breath, hesitated and then said with a courage that surprised herself: "You mean for me?"

Brent shrugged, attempted to smile apologetically and rather dimly failed. "It is the same thing," he said.

Eva smiled back at him but in her heart there was an icy chill. His words had not rung true.

"And I've been apartment hunting," Brent went on, as though Eva were demanding a fuller explanation. He spoke impatiently, annoyed at the position he was in with this childishly direct young girl.

Eva said nothing.

"I had intended to occupy it alone," Brent continued, "but now I suppose I shall become Helen's guardian again. She won't want to live here at Bramblewood, I am sure."

"She has said she would like to travel," Eva ventured.

"Yes," he said.

"She has offered," Eva told him, "to finance my studies abroad."

Brent frowned. "Helen is very generous," he said, "and perhaps a bit impulsive."

"As her guardian, should you object?" Eva asked him.

"Brent was quick with his denial. "Not at all," he assured her, "but you forget that I may not want Helen to live abroad. That is what you mean, isn't it, with you?"

"We talked about it," Eva admitted. "It won't do," Brent declared emphatically. "Of course, I would not attempt to stand in the way of your career, Eva. That is too important, and it may be necessary for me to part with you for the sake of your future. But there is no reason why Helen should elect to live in a foreign country. She is at a marriageable age and I think it best for her to be where the men she is most likely to meet are men of her own country—Americans."

Eva sighed. "It was just a dream," she said.

"But there isn't any reason why Helen shouldn't be your patron," Brent went on, regretting that in his first reaction he had let Eva see that he was averse to the plan. "She will be very wealthy and I'm sure nothing would make her happier than to foster a great talent. I was thinking, when you mentioned going abroad, only of her future. You see, I have done that for so many years it is a habit with me."

Eva put down the bit of roll she was lifting to her lips. "And I," she said softly, "I . . . does it not matter . . . the kind of men I meet?"

Brent instantly decided to punish her for even approaching the issue. "I'm sorry, dear," he said stiffly, "but don't you think it is . . . er . . . a bit out of place for us to discuss ourselves at this time?"

Eva shrunk back from the rebuke and her pale face plainly revealed by the quick flush that covered it, how keenly her sensitive soul had felt the man's words.

The rest of the dinner, until the dessert was brought, was eaten in silence.

Brent felt it just as well to let Eva suffer. He had a definite plan for turning her off with her. He meant to wound her upon every occasion, and yet never let her suspect that it was a part of a deliberate campaign. That she was genuinely humble he was certain. From this knowledge of her he reasoned that she would not endure abuse; neither did he expect her to create scenes or fight for that which without effort she could not control.

Love must come to Eva Ennis as her own Brent knew, and not as anything she must win.

It ought, he told himself, to be fairly easy to end his stupid affair with her, provided he used a modicum of sense to keep from driving her to the point where she felt she must have a confidence in which case, undoubtedly, she would choose Helen.

As they left the table he asked her if she was going up to Helen. He put the question to point his remark about the occasion being one on which they should think not of themselves, but of others.

Eva nodded and did not answer. She felt the implication behind his words—know that he was telling her where her duty lay.

Brent said when they reached the lane, "This house stifles me."

As Eva made her way up the stairs she thought with longing of the beautiful night outside and Brent walking alone in the garden. She tried to tell herself that she was selfish to want

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily's Decorations

Copyright, 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
By HOWARD R. GARIS

Once upon a time, hopping past the Hollow Stump School where the Lady Mouse Teacher had charge of the classes of animal girls and boys, Uncle Wiggily thought he would stop and say hello.

"Not only that," said the rabbit gentleman to himself, "but I think I shall tell Miss Mouse how nice her school looks."

When Mr. Longears tapped at the school door he thought at least a few of the pupils would be at their lessons so he could hear them recite. But it was later than he thought and only Miss Mouse was there, cleaning the dusty chalk marks from the blackboards.

"Oh, it's Uncle Wiggily!" squeaked Miss Mouse as she opened the door. "I'm so glad to see you, but I'm sorry school is out so the children are not here."

"You are here and that's enough," said the rabbit gentleman politely. "I just stopped to tell you how nice the school looks since the summer vacation. This room is very nice, and he looked around the one where the Lady Mouse sat in a chair on a platform.

"I'm glad you like the room," she squeaked. "But it would look better, I think, if it had some decorations." "Decorations?" repeated Uncle Wiggily, sort of making a question.

"She's sleeping," said the rabbit. "I'm glad you like the room," she squeaked. "But it would look better, I think, if it had some decorations." "Decorations?" repeated Uncle Wiggily, sort of making a question.

"There was something hurried and furtive about his movements. He glanced up the stairs and saw Eva standing there, dimly white in the faint light of the upper hall spilling under her breath. "I love him."

And when she found Helen sleeping and nothing for her to do, she was tempted to retrace her steps and join Brent. She went to the head of the stairs again and stood there undecided. Before she could conquer her reticence to risk being accosted a cold welcome in the garden, she saw Brent open the front door and re-enter the house.

"Why aren't you with Helen?" Brent retorted, his voice harsh and quick. "She's sleeping."

"Well, you might stay with her. She'll wake. I'll be in the library if you want me."

Eva turned without a word and went back to Helen's room. As she opened the door Helen stirred, her eyelids fluttered open and she called out: "Eva."

Eva went to her and took her in her arms. Helen began to sob and Eva held her closer.

"I had such a horrible dream," Helen said at last. "I was under the canoe again and it wasn't Bob who came to rescue me. It was Leonard, only he didn't try to help me. The scarf got tighter and tighter around my neck and I was choking."

"Don't cry," Eva begged. "Don't cry. I'll open the windows wider. It's turned very warm. You were disturbed by the heat."

She released Helen and let her sink back upon the heap of pillows. Helen watched her at the window, opening them to the summer night.

Suddenly she said utterly without premeditation: "Eva, I haven't seen Bob since that day in the lake."

Eva turned and looked at her expectantly. She half suspected that her brother was in love with Helen and had secretly hoped that Helen would show some signs of interest in Bob.

"What is he doing?" Helen went on. "Why doesn't he come in when he brings you here or calls for you?"

Eva came back and sat on the edge of the bed. "Something has happened to Bob," she said seriously. "He's plunged into his studies so deep we are worried about him. He isn't himself at all."

"He does want to succeed, doesn't he?" Helen said dreamily and Eva sensed that her momentary interest in Bob had abated.

She felt like saying that it was more than a studies that absorbed him, but her good sense restrained her. Bob must speak for himself—if ever Helen gave him an opportunity.

Mr. Longears. Knowing the farmer would not miss a few onions, Uncle Wiggily put them in his tall, silk hat with the red apples and blue grapes. So now he had red, white and blue colors the same as flag.

"Now I'll hop back to school," thought Mr. Longears. "The Lady Mouse Teacher will be gone by this time and I can slip in and decorate the room with red apples, white onions and blue grapes. She will see them in the morning."

No sooner said than done. Around the edges of the blackboards the rabbit put the brightly colored fruit and vegetables. Then he got out of the school before the rat janitor could lock him in and he waited for what would happen next day.

When Miss Mouse reached the school in the morning she was much surprised to see the decorations. At first she didn't know who had left the apples, grapes and onions, but at last the janitor told her.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! How can we thank you enough!" squeaked the Lady Mouse when she saw the rabbit.

"Pray do not mention it," begged Mr. Longears. And just then the Bob Cat from the deep, dark woods, passed the school and seeing Uncle Wiggily within, tried to get him.

"Oh, you don't!" cried the rabbit. "Help save Uncle Wiggily, my dears!" cried Miss Mouse to her pupils.

Then the children took some apples, grapes and onions from the decorations and pelted the Bob Cat so hard, especially with the strong onions, that he was glad enough to run away and hide behind his silly little tail. So the decorations were useful as well as ornamental. And if the feather duster will tickle the back of the rocking chair to make it fold its arms, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily's golf ball.

OUT OUR WAY

DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—What is a man to do with a wife who goes crooked? I am a successful physician with a good practice and I give my wife a good home and everything in reason that a woman could ask. And I have loved her and been kind to her, but for the last year and a half she has been having an affair with a married man who belongs to our set. I didn't know anything about it for a while, but after they were found out my wife told me all about it and also how wonderful the exploit was. We have been married six years and have three of the loveliest children. For the sake of the children I have gone on living with her, but if ever there was a hell I am in it. My whole home is tainted for me. In spite of her immorality, my wife is a good mother to the kids, and she does not want to leave. I would like to know your thoughts in the matter.

A. J. M.

Answer: My thoughts about a woman who betrays a good husband and her innocent little children are quite unpleasant. They are something with boiling oil in it as a punishment to fit the crime, as they say in the "Mikado."

Sometimes an unfaithful wife can plead an overwhelming passion for some man—not her husband—as a vestige of a vindication for her conduct, but your wife does not seem able to offer even this poor excuse. It was not the madness of love that drove her to another man. Just mere animism and a love of adventure.

If she had sinned through love and repented, there would be hope of her reforming, and you might trust her. But she hasn't a regret for what she has done. She is just a female philanderer who will always be going in search of thrills and having amorous affairs as long as her youth and good looks last. And when that is over she will be that most abominable and disgusting of all creatures—an old, worn-out feminine rake.

The woman whose heart leads her astray often returns to the straight and narrow way and follows it to the end. But the woman whose fancy prompts her to explore the primrose path never comes back. She is always following some will-o'-the-wisp of a new sensation that flits just before her. There is a deal of difference between even the immoral woman who just hasn't any morals at all, and the conscious sinner is the better woman of the two, and the one who is the more likely to come back.

It is often a wise thing for the woman who has a husband who is not faithful to her to endure the slights he puts upon her rather than to divorce him. This is because there are compensations for her in ignoring her own wrongs.

She keeps her home together. She is enabled to give her children opportunities that she could not afford them otherwise, and she has her own comfortable living, her house and her position in society. All of which mean much to a woman who has never been trained to any gainful occupation and who would have to exist in dire poverty if she undertook to support herself.

Moreover, many a bad husband is a good father. They keep their indiscretions a secret and hidden from youthful eyes and hold up to their children an ideal of conduct that they may not follow themselves, so that the mother has seldom to fear the father having a bad influence over his boys and girls.

But this is not the case when the mother is immoral. She is truly an ill bird that fouls its own nest, for she brings evil in her own home. She familiarizes her children with vice from their infancy up, and in particular a loose-living mother invariably brings up loose-living daughters.

It is the mother who forms the character of the children and who teaches them the principles by which they stand or fall, and she cannot teach them truth and honor and honesty and high principles if she is deceiving their father and lying to him and cheating him and carrying on shameful liaisons with other men.

For their own soul's sake, children should be taken away from an immoral mother, but often their father cannot do this because he has no one to take care of them, and so the question resolves itself into one of those pitiful, complicated human problems that only Almighty wisdom can solve.

But something with boiling oil in it should be the portion of the woman who brings so much undesired misery on so many innocent people.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am more than seventy years old and have four daughters, three married and one keeping house for me. I am thinking about getting married because my children want to boss me just as if I were a kid. If I buy a horse, I'm an old crazy. If I buy clothes, they are not the right color. My hat is not suitable for my age. I believe my head is quite level yet, and that I am capable of deciding my own affairs. Do you think if I married that my wife would nag me too? I am independent of all my relatives if the bank doesn't fail. Your advice, please.

BARNEY.

Answer: You know what Shakespeare said, Mr. Barney, about it being better to bear the ills we have than to fly to those we know not of, so if I were you I would rather risk being chicken-pecked than hen-pecked. But why stand for the nagging of your daughters? Money talks, you know, and you can make it a perfect slencer if you will threaten to cut them out of your will if they don't let you alone, and let you do as you please.

Young people talk a lot about their right to independence, but they seldom seem to realize that the old have an even greater right to follow their own inclinations, so long as they do not do anything that is wrong or foolish. A very large part of our happiness consists in our being able to gratify our little whims and tastes without having to fight for the privilege, and this is especially true of the old. Their little ways, their little habits, become very dear to them and they should be allowed to enjoy them unmolested by the criticism of their children.

I have often had my pity excited for old men and women whose children never permitted them to eat a meal in peace and without nagging them that everything they liked was bad for their stomachs; whose children never let them buy a single garment to suit their own taste; whose children never allowed them to spend a penny of the money they had made without their direction, or to go to any place without their company, and it did not mitigate the situation for the old people because the children were actuated in their tyranny by love and not by malice.

But at seventy don't get married to escape your children. It will truly be jumping out of the frying pan into the fire, for you will simply add another boss to your other bosses, and any man who has four daughters has enough feminine influence in his life. To add another is simply going out to hunt for trouble. Besides, at seventy you are too old to change and adapt yourself to a new variety of nagging. Better let bad enough alone.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—Are there more good wives than they are good husbands, or vice versa?

W. W. W.

I should say they would break about even. Probably there are more faithful wives than there are faithful husbands and that is why more wives than men apply for divorces. But chastity is not everything in the line of domestic virtues, and when it comes to being good and kind and patient and unselfish and self-sacrificing, there are just as many men who show these qualities toward their wives as there are women who show them to their husbands.

She stood by him staunchly in all his troubles. This time, however, it was a bigger fight than usual. The big boys of the school were all after him to teach him a lesson. The best thing to do seemed to be to run as fast as possible.

William and Minnie ran, and then decided they couldn't get away, so they stood up for a battle. William found a pile of slates and started throwing them. His sister Minnie stood bravely by and piled up the slates as fast as he could throw them.

To-morrow's Horoscope

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1929

This is a day of many complex planetary influences, according to astrology, which reads in the horoscope promise of big events in the United States.

Women may be restless and exceedingly energetic while this configuration prevails.

It is well for them to exert themselves in really constructive work. The day is read as promising for romance as well as for more tangible fields of experience. This should be lucky for weddings, making for long domestic partnership despite a tendency toward too much individual independence.

The rule of the stars is promising for theatres of every sort, and there will be increased desire for amusement.

Color sense is to be quickened greatly at this time when raiment as well as household furnishings will show a trend toward gay hues. Motion pictures are to reveal added development and color is to become one of their chief attractions. It is forecast. Persons whose birthdays it is have the luxury of a year in which work may bring unexpected experiences of a pleasant or profitable character.

Children born on this day may be exceedingly ambitious and determined. The subjects of this sign usually have the power to overcome obstacles.

CENTRAL SCHOOL OLD BOYS BEGIN REUNION PLANS

Committees Are Named at Organization Meeting Last Night

Former Students From All Parts of Continent Expected Here For Celebration

Victoria will have something in the nature of an Old Boys' Home Week, probably in connection with the May 24 celebration next year, as a result of the Central School Old Boys' organization, which got under way in the council chamber of the City Hall last night under Mayor George Jay.

Former pupils and teachers of the school, which is the oldest school in operation in the Province, with three-quarters of a century of tradition behind it, will be registered from all parts of Canada and United States, where they are now living, as well as the great number in Victoria. This registration will be carried out during the winter months, in preparation for the home-coming gathering.

Herbert Kent was appointed chairman of the registration committee by the meeting last night. Others placed on the committee with him are: W. H. Kinsman, Fred M. McGregor, J. E. Wilson, C. Elwood Watkins, J. B. Clearhugh, Robert H. Green, J. W. Lorimer, John T. Braden, Earl W. Clarke, Phil J. Hall, W. G. Lemm and H. E. A. Courtney.

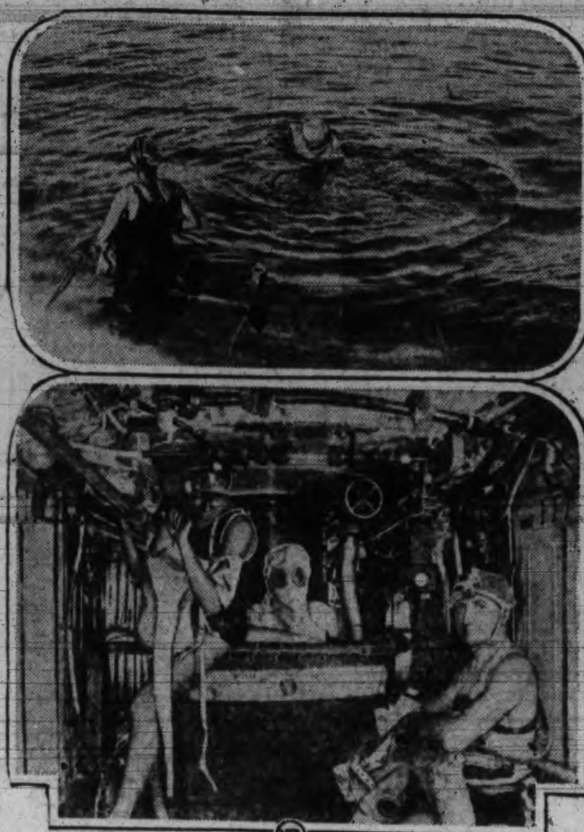

The publication committee was completed as follows: B. C. Nicholas, chairman; A. G. Sarason, Archie Wills, Harold McDonald and E. J. Haughton. Mr. Jay was empowered to make arrangements for a permanent reunion secretary.

NAMES REQUESTED
All Central School Old Boys, wherever they may be, are being asked to send in their names and addresses and the names and addresses of others whom they know of.

The following general permanent reunion committee was appointed last night:

E. J. Haughton, J. W. Lorimer, B. C. Nicholas, Herbert Kent, Hans Kroeger, Colonel W. N. Winsky, Ernest C. Briggs, Joseph Levy, Frank T. J. Merryfield, A. H. Harrison, Sergeant Stephen H. ## ITALIANS ESCAPE FROM SUBMARINES

Perhaps there will not be any more submarine disasters. The Italian navy, using two submarines, has successfully demonstrated escape from submerged vessels. A small device which covers the head like a diver's helmet and enables the wearer to come to the surface safely was used. Above, a member of the submerged submarine's crew is shown coming to the surface; below, in the submarine, headgear attached, waiting to escape from the "stricken" undersea boat.

SAANICH PLANS ADDITIONS TO MANY SCHOOLS

School Board Has Abandoned Proposal to Erect New High School

Tillamook, Cloverdale and Old Tolmie Schools to Be Enlarged; to Spend $125,000

The Saanich School Board proposes to invest more than $125,000 in new school construction within the next few months. A building programme designed to cater to the demands of a united Saanich was last night released by the school board at its first session since the announcement of the Tolmie Government that secession would not be countenanced.

The new construction programme replaces the earlier proposal to erect a high school building at a central location, the abandoned scheme having been found difficult to bring into accord with the diverging interests of rural and urban areas.

TOLMIE SCHOOL ADDITIONS

The board has decided to permanently convert the fine brick Tolmie School into a high school, and will add an auditorium to seat 400 persons, a gymnasium and a series of laboratories, locker-rooms, and a modern cafeteria restaurant. The reconstruction will be designed to accommodate at least 500 students and will be carried out in brick to accord with the present building, the new additions being located at the rear.

To provide for the large population of school children of primary grade age resident near Tolmie School, the board will erect a four-room school adjacent to the existing three-room school now used for primary classes. The two buildings will be operated as one seven-room school.

TO ADD ROOMS

The great overcrowding at Tillamook School will be remedied by erection of a four-room addition to that school. Each two upper rooms finished forthwith and two lower rooms unfinished. At Cloverdale School there is also much overcrowding, especially since the withdrawal of Tolmie School for high school purposes. This school will therefore be extended by addition of two more rooms and an enlargement of the basement.

It is the intention of the school board to terminate the present temporary transportation of urban students to distant schools at the earliest possible moment, and when the additions to the schools are completed two temporary rooms at Lake Hill will be closed until the local population increases sufficiently to require the full four rooms in use there at present.

EXPECT GOVERNMENT AID

The school board has received assurances from the Provincial Department of Education of a substantial grant towards the cost of erecting a modern high school, and the trustees are confident that this aid will be forthcoming towards the development of Tolmie School as a modern high school. It is also the expectation of the board that the Government will generously aid in extension of the graded schools, especially in view of the fact that this course has become necessary to provide a solution of the high school problem.

Discussing the proposed expansion plans last night, the trustees agreed that when the Municipal Council accepted their pledge of $5,000 for architect's fees the councillors showed conclusively that submission of a by-law for high school construction in any district would be headed towards failure at the polls before the measure was drafted. Chairman Hobbs credited Trustee Walter June with having proposed the alternative method now to be put into effect.

While the board consider that there is no necessity for the council to submit the new building plans to a vote of the ratepayers of Saanich, they expressed themselves as satisfied that the proposed reorganization and expansion of the school facilities of Saanich would meet with overwhelming support in all parts of the municipality.

PLAN CONSOLIDATED SCHOOL

It was pointed out that the work proposed to be undertaken immediately after the commencement of new developments designed to embrace all parts of Saanich. Chairman Hobbs announced that as soon as the urgent overcrowding of the inner city had been remedied it was the intention of the school board to study problems incident to replacement of the two-room rural schools by a large consolidated school, which would provide primary graded tuition and also include junior high school, which would provide the first two years of the usual high school course of studies. This school would be located somewhere north of Royal Oak, and would be served by an adequate transportation system.

The board has retained C. Elwood Watkins to prepare the plans for the additions to the Tolmie High School and have tentatively approved the advanced drawings submitted. These are now almost in readiness for the calling of tenders and firm bids for the work. The plans for the new Tolmie primary school and the additions to Cloverdale and Tillamook schools are being prepared by Hubert Savage, and will also be in readiness for bids within a few days.

accommodation in the urban schools, and the fair complaint of the rural districts that they were not receiving educational facilities comparable with their share in taxes.

INTERVIEWED COUNCIL

The trustees interviewed the Saanich Council during the evening and announced that they no longer required the grant of $6,000 for architect fees which had been delayed. Chairman Hobbs intimated that greatly increased grants for building purposes would be sought later in the year for various extensions in substitution for the original plans. When he thanked the council for the grant promised but delayed, Reeve Crouch said the council was just forestalled in voting the money.

Missionary Flies To Northern Area

Toronto, Oct. 3.—Rev. George Morrow, Anglican clergyman, has gone back to Rupert's House to continue his work among the traders and Indians of that James Bay post. Mr. Morrow was flown in from Bemli Lake this week by Captain Roy W. Maxwell, director of the Ontario Flying Service. Last March Maxwell flew to Moose Factory to pick up Mr. Morrow, who had broken a leg, and rushed him to Cochrane. Mr. Morrow, who is accompanied by his wife, will proceed to Rupert's House by dogteam after the first heavy snow-fall.

Sour Stomach

Sweetened instantly

Just a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an alkali, effective, yet harmless. It has been the standard antidote for fifty years among physicians everywhere. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume in acid. It is the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes. Don't depend on crude methods. Employ the best way yet evolved in all the years of searching. That is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for fifty years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist. (Adv.)
